Personality Is Theme of Lecture

"The personality is how we react to other people and how they react to us," said Miss Ella Stevens Barrett, of the State Department of Education in the field of guidance in her lecture to parents and teachers at Central auditorium on Tuesday, October 28. Her topic was "Personality Through the Curriculum".
 Miss Barrett commented that we are no longer concerned about subject matter first but about the individual boy or girl — his full personality. We are trying to help develop so as to live with others — to be in "tune".

 "We must help the child to develop certain things — an understanding of himself, self confidence, creativeness and initiative," she continued. "He must be able to accept different individuals — their ideas, to learn to be a contributor, to know how to use information, and to discover some of the lasting values in himself."

 Miss Barrett concluded by saying that these developments will make the child feel in tune. What are we doing to help them grow?
