A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. D-266

DESIGN D-266 FIRST-FLOOR

SECOND-FLOOR

DESIGN D-266. There is space upstairs in this house for two bedrooms by using a rear dormer. These rooms can be left unfinished for the present because the first floor has two bedrooms.

The kitchen and the living room are in the front of the house. The kitchen has a well-lighted corner which is to be used for dining. The living room has a picture window. Wardrobe closets with built-in trays are used for the first floor bedrooms and a good sized walk-in closet for the large upstairs rooms.

Storage space also includes closets at the entrances, the linen cabinet and spacious attic storage. The floor area is 909 sq. ft. with 19,544 cu. ft.

For further information about DESIGN D-266, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Check Advisable On GI Rights, Vets Are Told

Veterans who have had active duty in the armed forces since June 26, 1950 and who plan to go to school under provisions of Public Law 350 (Korean GI Bill) should read all matters with the VA clear before starting course. George C. Warlick, officer in charge of the Gastonia VA Office states this applies also to those veterans planning to enter colleges or other schools in September. In this way veterans may eliminate unnecessary delay in receiving their training allowance as it becomes payable.

This advance preparation includes filing application with the VA for Certificate of Eligibility for course of training desired. The veteran must attach a copy of his discharge or separation record to application. This determines the amount of schooling or other training he may receive. The veteran will do well, Mr. Warlick says, to get his dependency status established as he will not be paid for dependents until they are approved as such by the VA. Where no dependents are claimed this simplifies filing as married veterans must file marriage certificates, and also furnish birth certificates when children entitle the veteran to increased allowance. In case the veteran or his wife was married prior to the marriage to be established, a death certificate covering former spouse, or divorce certificate as is applicable must be furnished. For those veteran attending school full time, as required for appropriate school, the VA will pay $110 a month to a veteran without a dependent, $135 in cases of one dependent and $160 a month to a veteran with two or more dependents. Lesser amounts are payable when attendance in school is on less than full time basis. In all cases the veteran is responsible to the school for all expenses incidental to his education — all allowances are paid to the veteran, none to the school.

Another reason for making application for certificate of eligibility, Mr. Warlick pointed out, is the fact that the veteran must list the highest objective he hopes to attain through his training course. If he is in any way uncertain as to course he is best suited to follow he may receive advisement and guidance from trained VA counselors. Advisement is given at VA headquarters in Winston-Salem or at Chapel Hill by appointment. Since a majority of Korean veterans are young men, many of whom had no trade or profession before entering active military service, they often are not sure as to the best course to study. The counseling provided by the VA will enable them to select courses in the field they find they will be most likely to succeed. This is especially important because Korean veterans will be allowed to change course only once, it was pointed out in the Gastonia VA Office.

To separate utensils and keep them in place, a removable partition can be made to fit cabinet drawers. Use them for your kitchen and table silver, too. This makes for more efficient work and ease in doing the job.

Comb and brush should always be kept scrupulously clean; Wash daily if possible, and always after your hair has been shampooed. The cleanest hair is hair that is groomed daily with clean comb and brush. There is no point in washing your hair if it is to be brushed with yesterday's just and oil left on your comb and brush.

GARDEN TIME

ROBERT SCHMIDT
N. C. STATE COLLEGE

Each kind of tree, shrub, or plant has a best time and method for propagating it. We cannot discuss all of them here but there are a few plants that are most successfully propagated at this season of the year.

For example, many gardeners in eastern North Carolina are growing the evergreen species of azaleas. Of course it is easy to purchase azaleas from the nurseries but that will take money and it is not very difficult to grow your own if you are willing to give them some care. These azaleas may be easily propagated by cuttings taken from the plant in June or July. The cuttings should be made of the present season's wood, about four inches long, after the base of the new stem has become partially matured.

The best medium in which to root azaleas is a mixture of half pure sand and half peat moss. This material may be put in a special frame or shallow box to a depth of about 6 inches in a place where the frame can be shaded and watered when necessary. The leaves should be stripped from the lower half of the cutting, the basal end cut with a short knife, and dipped in a root powder.

Then the cuttings are inserted in the sand and peat mixture about half their length and firmed. They may be set close together in rows. Special attention must be paid to shading and watering. In a few weeks roots will develop on most of the cuttings and they should be potted or transplanted to a cold frame where they can be protected until ready to set out in a permanent place. Rootone powder may be obtained in any large seed store.

The peach is another plant that must be propagated at this time of the year. It will not come true to variety from seed and therefore if you have any peach seedlings it is best to graft a known variety upon them. Since the peach cannot be grafted successfully in winter, like the apple it must be budded during July or August. Contact your county agent at once for instructions or bulletins on budding peach trees.

Pecans are also budded at this time of year. A pecan does not come true to variety from seed.

His Picture got home in eight minutes

A Korean veteran returns; a loved one greets him at the dock; news cameras record the happy event. Eight minutes after the photograph is developed and rushed to the press picture bureau, it's in the veteran's home town across the continent—via the magic of telephoto.

Developed by the Bell System, telephoto flashes news photographs over telephone circuits to press associations and newspapers all over the Nation.

The lives of all Americans are enriched by such modern miracles as telephoto, the teletypewriter, and transmission of network television. These advancements came about through years of research by telephone scientists and engineers. This continuing research is one reason America has the most and best telephone service in the world.

Air Conditioning on wheels* comes of age!

Now you can have a car that's as comfortable on hot days as your air-conditioned home, office or favorite theater.

Now you can ride in draft-free coolness at the temperature level you choose—even when the outside reading is 110° and more.

Now you can take a full complement of passengers through the thick of traffic on a sweltering day—and each one of you will keep looking and feeling fresh as a daisy at dewtime.

Air intakes on each side of car introduce outside air into system.

Grilles in Buick's exclusive dual roof ducts insure draft-free distribution of conditioned air—and also provide individual control of air direction as desired.

Return air grilles on package shelf help maintain continuous circulation of conditioned, pollen-free air.

What's more, these exclusive roof ducts have individually controlled air directors above the side windows. So each window-seat passenger can guide a gentle breeze of conditioned air exactly where he wants it.

Of course, the Buick AIRCONDITIONER is automatic.

You switch it on, choose the temperature setting you want—and that level of coolness is maintained constantly. It thoroughly conditions the air around you—automatically. It carries off heat, stale air, tobacco smoke—automatically. It continuously introduces outside air into the system—automatically.

It's fast-acting, too. Even after an hour or more locked up under summer's hottest sun, the car interior can be brought to a delightfully cool comfort in a matter of minutes.

And it's really compact. The cooling unit itself fits neatly on a narrow shelf in the big trunk compartment—leaves plenty of room for luggage and the like.

Why not drop in on us and try a demonstration? You'll find that the Buick AIRCONDITIONER with its exclusive dual roof ducts is the ultimate comfort in hot-climate driving.

*Buick Airconditioner available in 1953 Roadmaster and Super Riviera and Sedan models at extra cost.

You do this with the compact Buick AIRCONDITIONER—the completely practical unit available at extra cost in 1953 SUPER and ROADMASTER Sedan and Riviera models.

But note this: what Buick put into its AIRCONDITIONER goes beyond the usual.

For the advanced design of this Buick unit provides dual roof ducts that distribute up to 300 cubic feet of cooled, freshened, filtered, air per minute to all parts of the car interior evenly and constantly—without icy blasts and drafts on your neck, shoulders, legs.
