Mayhem Minor On Halloween

The spooks and goblins moved about in force on Halloween night last Saturday, but Kings Mountain's contribution to the celebration was reasonable and non-destructive for the most part. Police Chief H. A. Logan, Jr., reported.

School Halloween parties featured the celebration here, and many costumed youngsters paraded on the streets of the business section. Others scoured their neighborhoods for candies and cookies using the proverbial "trick or treat" proffer. Generally, the ladders were emptied in short order, several citizens reported.

One lady reported seeing a pair of chairs hung high on a telephone pole on Mountain street, and a crudely lettered sign on the window of Plonk Motor Company, Ford dealer, advised the purchase of Chevrolets.
