LET'S TALK IT OVER

By: Grace & Selma
One day we were intrigued by an advertisement of a depilatory which claimed absolute protection against "briar patch legs". As a result we made an exhaustive study of hair (three minutes) and came up with a few facts concerning this hirsute phenomena. The girls will be happy to know that shaving their legs will not make the hair grow faster and tougher, and if a man claims his beard sprouts faster in summer than winter, he's as wrong as a three dollar bill. Those interested in raising a mustache can count on a growth of 1/64th of an inch per day. Scalp hair grows less energetically, requiring 100 days on the average to gain an inch. Men whose wives use their razors to trim their nails, scrape the windows and trim the hedge won't be surprised to learn that beard hair is much coarser than scalp hair; four to nine thousandths in diameter compared to a scrawny two thousandths. And it's our personal observation that few barbers appreciate shaggy dog stories. And it's also our personal observation that after one visit to 624 E. King Street people automatically think of ALLEN'S FLOWER SHOP when they think of FLOWERS. To Know us is to Depend upon us... so drop in and get to Know us real soon, won't you. adv.

Friendly North Carolina Where Industry Prospers

This advertisement is one of the State Advertising series appearing currently in principal out-of-state newspapers and magazines. It is being reproduced by this newspaper without cost to the State as a public service in the interest of better informing its readers about North Carolina's advantages and facilities for increasing purchasing power, by attracting new industries and tourists.

Climbing Problem...

Here's a real problem in climbing. Actually, telephone poles must still be the same height, but today you can buy only about two-fifths of an average size pole for the price of one 15 years ago. So every time we replace an old pole or add a new one we have to spend more than twice as much as in 1939.

This is just one example of what climbing costs have done to the telephone business. The cost of furnishing telephone service has increased more than the price we get for it. And prices of almost all other commodities have gone up much more.

Southern Bell wants telephone service to be as good and as low priced as possible. At the same time we hope you will understand what inflation has done to us. We believe you are willing for us to earn a fair profit.
