Eastern Star, 25-Member Group Ask Donations

A large organization was already working this week toward obtaining the $5,420 quota for the 1954 Kings Mountain Red Cross campaign. Members of the Kings Mountain Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, are to conduct a house-to-house drive with Mrs. E. C. Martin serving as chairman and other workers on the 25-member organization to collect gifts from firms and individuals are George C. Kelly, C. E. Warlick, Rowell Lane, E. E. (Red) Morrison, Horace Ford, Paul McGinnis, David Saunders, Mrs. Ethel Falls, Hal Ward, John Cheshire, Jack White, J. B. Simpson, Tracy McGinnis, Sam Collins, Mrs. D. E. Tate, Fred W. Plonk, Jimmy Willis, Mrs. I. C. Patterson, Milton Kiser, Clyde Whetstone, Otis Falls, Jr., Mrs. J. B. Simpson, Mrs. W. K. Mauney, Jr., Mrs. Howard Jackson, Dr. P. G. Padgett, Dr. N. H. Reed, Frank Price, C. P. Barry, and Mrs. Sam Stallings. Paul Hambright will conduct the campaign in Grover and Rev. Grier will conduct the canvass to colored residents of Grover. H. D. (Snooks) McDaniel, publicity chairman, said Wednesday that several groups had completed their canvass but no report was given. The Kings Mountain chapter will retain $3,140 of the $5,420 quota. Mr. McDaniel said, with $500 of the balance to go to the Charlotte blood center. Commenting on the Red Cross program in Kings Mountain, Mr. McDaniel said that last week Kings Mountain hospital used 10 pints of blood and that in recent months Kings Mountain had supplied less blood than it had used. When supplied through the Red Cross there is no charge for the blood or its products, he said. However, there may be a charge made by the hospital and physician for administering services. The Red Cross Bloodmobile made a one-day visit here on February 11 with 67 pints of blood contributed to the blood bank. Dr. P. G. Padgett is blood program chairman of the local chapter. The Red Cross also supports a life saving project here with Don Crawford as director and a first-aid and accident prevention program of which Neal Grissom is director. All chapters have a hand in aiding disaster sufferers, Mr. McDaniel said. The Red Cross has assisted area families when they have lost their homes through fire or when other tragedies have struck. Assistance has been given to many veterans of the Korean conflict and World War II and to those cases brought to the attention of the local chapter through the Cleveland County Welfare Department. "Last year the Red Cross helped 24,500 families in more than 300 disaster operations in this country, and expended almost $6,800,000 in disaster preparedness and relief. Assistance given through the Red Cross to those in need is a gift of the American people and anything short of the quota set eliminates some of the good work that the Red Cross is doing in Kings Mountain, Mr. McDaniel added.

Southeast Area Civil Defense Tests Underway

Another in a series of Civil Defense - Air Defense tests is underway in the Carolinas, with members of the Kings Mountain OP on duty at City Hall for the three-day "Operation Spring Fever". The 35th Air Division (Defense) scheduled the test to check theoretical capabilities through the entire southeast. Civilian volunteers, who have been trained in the reporting of aircraft movements, will report all aircraft activity over a ve-state area to strategically located Air Defense Filter Centers. The Filter Centers, also manned by civilian volunteers, will receive the information from the Ground Observation Posts, "filter" that information, and then pass on that information in an abbreviated form to the Air Force authorities concerned with Air Defense. The test is slated to start at 8 a. m. on the 3rd of March, and conclude at 6 p. m. the same day, and on March 4th and 5th from 8 a. m. until midnight. Approximately 250 Observation Posts in the Charlotte Air Defense Filter Center's area of responsibility are cooperating in the operation. The Observation Posts, which normally are located at eight mile intervals, are manned by a group of patriotic civilian volunteers who realize that the falling of radar, if not supplemented by the Ground Observer Corps, might mean the difference between success and failure of our Air Defense Interceptor Force. "You are also needed in this program of Civil Defense, volunteer your services now, so that America may remain free from aggression. Contact us and volunteer your services today - Tomorrow may be too late," James Houser, Kings Mountain post supervisor said this week. Mr. Houser may be contacted at phone 245-LW or 760.

It will advance to two-and-one-half percent next month. On a percentage basis, 84 percent of the 1953 tax levy has now been paid.

Churchwomen Sponsor Annual Worship At Noon

Kings Mountain's annual World Day of Prayer service will be held Friday at 12 o'clock noon in Central Methodist church, as Kings Mountain citizens unite with Christians in other communities and nations the world over. Purpose of the service is to unite all Christians in a bond of prayer and to make an offering for both missions at home and abroad. This year's mission offering will be used for the advancement of Christian education in government schools in India, the United States, and Alaska, for the support of pastors and lay workers on rural farms in the United States and Puerto Rico, and for the over-all support of both home and foreign missions. Mrs. Robert Neill is program chairman for the service. Theme of the program is "That They Might Have Life", with the program prepared by Miss Sarah Chalko, president of the Isabella Thorburn College for Women in Lucknow, India, and the first chairman of the World Council of Church Women's Work. The theme is taken from John 10:10. The World Day of Prayer observance began in 1837 when Presbyterian women designated a day of prayer for home missions. Since 1941 the General Department of United Church Women has produced the service and promoted the observance in the United States. The Division of Foreign Missions of the National Council of Churches has promoted the observance overseas. Friday's service will be the sixty-seventh annual observance of the world-wide call to prayer. The service is sponsored by the National Council of Churches' Department of United Church Women and here by the Kings Mountain Council of Church Women, of which Mrs. Phillip Baker is chairman.

Postal Receipts Show Big Gain

Kings Mountain postal receipts showed a large gain in February over the comparable month last year. Postmaster W. E. Blakely reported Wednesday that February receipts total $5,373.55, compared to $3,327.32 for February 1953. Part of the jump was abnormal, Mr. Blakely suggested, due to a large deposit for metered mail which occurred during February 1954. However, he added, he thought a portion of the increase was normal increase.

Plott Still Mum On Lithium Plans For New Mining Operation, Plant

Lithium Corporation of America has obtained an option on a 35-acre tract on the Kings Mountain-Bessemer City highway and plans to build a plant for processing spodumene ore, the Gastonia Gazette reported. Dr. W. S. Matthews, Bessemer City physician and grantor of the option, on Saturday. The statements attributed to Dr. Matthews partially confirmed street-talk prevalent here for several weeks that Lithium Corporation, which has headquarters in Minneapolis, Minn., would build a large plant for obtaining lithium. E. T. Plott, Kings Mountain representative of Lithium Corporation, declined comment on the reports, though he acknowledged that he had been in the employ of the Minneapolis concern since 1946, during that time obtaining purchase options and mineral leases on property throughout the area from Lincoln to Kings Mountain. The firm was organized, Mr. Plott said, in 1942, and is headed by Carl Lutz, president. Mr. Plott said he talked with Lithium Corporation officials by telephone during the past week end, but that they had no public announcements to make concerning possible operations in this area. The Matthews property, which lies close to the Southern Railway mainline tracks, is in the area near the community known as "Stump-ton", and northeast of the former site of Leon's Grill, one-time short order restaurant and night club on the Bessemer City-Kings Mountain road.

Holmes Smith, III, pastor of the Presbyterian church in Forest City, speak on his experiences while a missionary in the Belgian Congo. Two building permits totaling $9,500 were issued here by Building Inspector J. W. Webster, through March 3. P. B. Phillips obtained a permit to build a house to be used for a residence on Second street, at an estimated cost of $3,500, on March 3. On February 25, a permit was issued to E. T. Davis Predicts Favorable Gas Decision Soon

City Attorney J. R. Davis, home after a quick trip to Washington, D. C., for cross-examination Monday on the city's request for a natural gas allotment, said he felt the city's request will obtain final approval from the Federal Power Commission within 30 to 60 days. Mr. Davis said the Monday hearing before the FPC was short, and that there was little opposition to the request of the City of Kings Mountain for an allotment of natural gas from the Transcontinental Pipeline Company's big line on York Road. The principal previous objection to the city's request, Public Service Company of North Carolina, did not appear for the hearing. Objections to the Kings Mountain request, which Mr. Davis termed "minor," were voiced by attorneys for Thomas Edison Company, and by representatives of coal trade associations. "We're going to get it," Mr. Davis said, adding the decision to make permanent the previously granted tentative allotment of more than a million cubic feet of natural gas per day should be forthcoming soon. The latest survey and construction proposal of Barnard & Burk, the city's engineers on the gas matter, indicates the city can build a natural gas distribution system for $515,000. The city plans to build the system via issuance of revenue bonds, which would not be a general obligation of the city. The Barnard & Burk survey shows potential demand for gas service would be economically feasible, that is, the city could pay the interest on the bonds, retire the bonds over a period of 300 years and still retain a profit - all at rates competitive with other fuels. Several business firms have indicated a desire for the service and are willing to take it on an interruptible basis, the survey shows.

City Fathers Meet Thursday

The city board of commissioners will hold their regular March meeting Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Among items of business scheduled for discussion include request of Duke Power Company for the city to retain certain Phifer Road power customers, receiving bids on an oil storage tank owned by the city and being offered for sale, and action on a petition for installing sidewalk on the south side of West King street, from Waterson street to the hospital entrance. Several months ago the city asked Bennett Brick & Tile Company and Lambeth Rope Corporation, among others of its outside-city-limits power customers to obtain service from Duke on plea that the cost of end-of-line service was a money-losing venture for the city. City Clerk Joe Hendrick said Duke has found it will cost about $20,000 to build proper lines for serving Phifer Road customers and wants the city to retain them. Mr. Hendrick said proper service will require city expenditure of about $6,000 for regulators.

Brother-In-Law Of Mrs. Ruth Dies

Funeral rites for Robert Strange McNeill, 67, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Hilton Ruth, of Kings Mountain, were held at Mocksville Tuesday afternoon. Mr. McNeill, lawyer, former Federal official, and leader of the Democratic party, died Saturday at his Mocksville home, following a year of declining health. Burial was made in the Joppa cemetery. Born in Fayetteville, the son of the late James D. McNeill and Elizabeth Strange McNeill, he was educated at the University of North Carolina, served in World War I, and became a practicing lawyer in Mocksville in 1925. He was assistant attorney for the United States Middle District of North Carolina from 1934 to 1948, and had been active in Boy Scout, American Legion, and Democratic Party affairs almost all his life. He was an Episcopalian. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Margaret Meroney McNeill, a son, Robert S. McNeill, Jr., a brother and two sisters. The condition of D. C. Mauney, a patient at Charlotte Memorial hospital, continues to show improvement, members of his family said Wednesday.

Pay Claims Drop To 362 Shows Situation Better

Franklin Ware, manager of the Kings Mountain branch of the North Carolina Employment Service, predicted this week a general leveling of unemployment in Kings Mountain at 350 to 400 persons for the "next several weeks". Mr. Ware made the statement against a background of dropping unemployment compensation claims totals, which last week totaled only 362, including 45 initial claims. The figure will be slightly higher for the current week, Mr. Ware said, due to partial layoffs at Kings Mountain Manufacturing Company, but generally the job situation in Kings Mountain is better than it has been for several weeks. Slater Manufacturing Company has been adding a few employees to its labor force, and Neisler's Margrace plant has also recalled a number of persons previously on part-time work schedules. Mr. Ware said the next big reduction in unemployment totals probably depends on resumption of operations of the former Frieda Manufacturing Company plant at Crowder's Mountain, now Carlon division of Carlon Mills, Inc. Ben Rudisill, of Carlon, said last week previous reports of Carlon's resumption of operations were premature and without confirmation from responsible officials. Conversion work on the machinery is partially completed and some samples are being manufactured, Mr. Rudisill said. For February, the Kings Mountain employment report is improved over January. A total of 2,415 claims for unemployment compensation were filed at the Kings Mountain office during February, for an average of about 604 per week. Initial claims during February were listed at 586. The January total was 2,894 unemployment compensation claims, 1,145 of them initial claims. Mr. Ware reported 46 job placements during February, mostly in textiles, which he described as a particularly encouraging sign of improvement in the job situation here.

Mauney, county veterinarian, announced Monday the rabies clinic schedule for Friday. Shady Rest, Cherryville Road, 9:30-9:45. Eaker's Store, Mary's Grove, 10-10:30. McGill, is conducting the appeal for funds. Mr. Abbott invited further contributions for the fund which is aimed at cutting the death toll caused by heart trouble of various kinds. Every second death is caused by heart ailments, statistics show. "We'd like to have at least $100 more," Mr. Abbott said, and invited citizens to mail donations to himself or to Mr. McGill, or to convey them in person.
