HOME SAFETY HINTS FOR YOUNGEST AGE GROUP — The normal, average child of preschool age, is an active, vigorous bundle of untiring curiosity, wanting to touch and handle everything within reach, and trying to put everything small enough into his mouth. During this period of development, matches, cigarettes, marbles, pins, money and similar objects should be out of his reach. Store detergents, poisons, cleaning fluids should also be out of his reach.

Never leave a young child alone in the house; teach him as soon as he can to understand the dangers of playing with fire.

THE OLDEST AGE GROUP NEEDS PROTECTION TOO — Their protection should be unobtrusive, thoughtful, loving consideration. If living by themselves, they must learn to ease up, slow up, and plan their environment — furnishings, household equipment, gardening supplies — to be free of hazards. Falls and burns are the major types of accidents for the older person, so: (1) Form the habit of holding onto the rail when going up and down stairs. (2) Turn on the light before moving around, if a room is dark; a small light at head of stairs and in the hall would greatly help in avoiding falls. (3) Never snore in bed or when lying down.

Second Fingerprint Class Is Underway

A second class in a fingerprinting course for Boy Scouts got under way Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the City Hall, according to Martin Ware, instructor.

The two-class course, second in a series, is sponsored by the Kings Mountain Boy Scout Council for the purpose of assisting scouts interested in obtaining a merit badge on this subject.

Scout Gathering Held On Saturday

The Juliet-Lowe In-gathering of Girl Scout troops in Kings Mountain was held at the First Presbyterian church recreation hall Saturday morning.

Troops present and participating in the program were Troop I, Central Methodist church, of which Mrs. P. E. Hendricks and Mrs. J. E. Rhea are leaders; Troop II, First Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. Charles Neisler and Mrs. Charles Ballard are leaders; Troop III, Central Methodist church, of which Miss Mozelle Masters and Mrs. D. R. Hamrick are leaders, and Troop 32, First Presbyterian church, led by Mrs. Harry Page and Mrs. Nell Cranford.

Troop I shared with the group by way of verse and song their recent trip to the Nature Museum in Charlotte and Troop II told of their service projects for the year, showing samples of handmade favors for hospital trays and kits for Korea they had made. They closed their part of the program by a rendition of "White Corrie Bells."

Troop II formed a circle on the floor and played the game "Pass the Shoe." They invited the entire group to join them in the game.

A trio of nature songs was given by Troop 32. The entire group closed the program with the "Hokey Pokey", using handmade tambourines fashioned from paper plates, picture wire, and bottle tops.

Following troop participation a large horseshoe was formed and Juliette pennies from each troop were presented. The amount collected totaled $12 and will be used to further the Girl Scout program throughout the world.

Miss Annie Roberts brought greetings from the Area Board, of which she is an officer. The

Two Are Complimented At Bridge Party Tuesday

Mrs. A. A. Lackey, Jr., and Mrs. Donald Carpenter of Bessemer City entertained at the home of Mrs. Carpenter's mother, Mrs. Horace Hord, here Tuesday evening at bridge.

The "going-away" party complimented Mrs. Robert Neill, who with her family plan to move soon to Greensboro, and Mrs. Bill Brymer of Bessemer City, who plans to move with her family to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., this weekend.

Tables were laid for refreshments at the beginning of the party, and a salad plate with ham biscuits, crackers, and decorated cupeakes with coffee were served. The Easter theme was carried out in the refreshment plates, and flowers decorated each table.

Other arrangements of mixed spring flowers were used throughout the home in decoration.

Guests present for bridge were Mrs. Brymer, Mrs. Neill, the hostesses, Mrs. J. B. Plonk, Mrs. Walter Harmon, Mrs. David Neill, Mrs. Oran Fulton, Mrs. Charles Neisler, Mrs. Henry Neisler, Mrs. William Herndon, Mrs. Joe Hendrick, Mrs. C. A. Goforth, Jr., and Mrs. Sam Mitchem.
