Chick - To - Layer Change Difficult

Most chicks purchased in North Carolina for fall layers are now on ranges. Some of the birds have developed to the extent that they will soon be laying a few eggs. This presents poultrymen with a critical decision. R. S. Dearstyne, head of the department of poultry science, N. C. State College, says the decision of when to move pullets into the laying house is one of the important questions to be answered every year by laying flock owners. Some poultrymen feel the birds should be moved as a group at the first indication of lay. Others believe that they should be left on range until the rate of lay is pronounced (until 15-20 per cent of the birds are producing). Dearstyne explains that despite the fact that sexual maturity is inherited, there is quite a variation, even between full sisters, in the time that sexual maturity occurs. This creates some confusion. After birds come into production, says Dearstyne, they react to a change in environment and until adjustments are made some slump in production may occur. Dearstyne believes it best to move birds into the laying house when signs of approaching sexual maturity are "well defined", with this proviso: "That the group in question is hatched at the same time and that all show good body weight." The quarters into which the birds are moved should have been cleaned and disinfected. When the birds are finally moved they should be handled individually and strict culling of subnormal birds carried out.

Mildew Prevention Points Are Listed

It's about this time every year that homemakers throughout North Carolina are plagued with mildew. Mildew, however, isn't selective about where it grows. It may show up on your best pair of shoes, your leather gloves, in your bookshelves, or it may even spread across the walls of your house. According to Pauline E. Gordon, State College Extension specialist in housing and house furnishings, mildew may form on the walls of a house in damp, humid areas where there is an absence of sunshine, food in the form of oils in paint films, and the presence of mildew spores. Adding a fresh coat of paint over a mildewed wall is no way to combat the problem. Instead, the brush will just spread the spores so that the mildew may return more vigorous than ever. Miss Gordon explains that mildew is a fungus which lives on vegetable matter like paint oils. It can eat through several coats of paint. To get rid of mildew, wash your walls with a solution of one pound of trisodium phosphate to one gallon of water. Then rinse the walls with clear water. Trisodium phosphate may be bought at a drug store. Miss Gordon adds that special mildew-resistant paints are available. A poison can be added to paint but it should be used with great caution. Some products of this type are available which are non-toxic to humans or to animals. The point to bear in mind if your walls are mildewed is to wash the walls with a solution to kill the spores before you add fresh paint. The 90 per cent of parity support price for flue-cured tobacco will be the same in 1954 as it was in 1953 — 47.9 cents per pound.

QUESTION: When are my chickens in greatest danger from bluecomb and fowl typhoid? ANSWER: The peak of the seasonal occurrence comes in July. While birds of all ages may have this trouble records show that it is worst in spring-hatched chicks while they're on range. Field observations in North Carolina indicate that bluecomb is common during hot, rainy weather. Fowl typhoid, caused by a small germ which is passed in the droppings from sick birds and apparently can live in the soil for a long time, is most prevalent in the May through November period, but the peak is reached during August. QUESTION: Can I help protect my grain from insects by using treated bags? ANSWER: You may get some protection, yes. You can fumigate bags in a tight container, such as a large steel garbage can. Such treatments, however, will kill only those pests hiding in the bags when you fumigate them. Another, and more lasting treatment, is to dip bags in a 5 per cent oil solution of DDT. Also, you can spray bags full of grain with 5 per cent DDT or 5 per cent of synergized pyrethrum. QUESTION: What is considered an average field of the pickling type cucumber? ANSWER: Most growers consider anything under 150 bushels per acre below average. If properly managed, growers should expect to gross about $225 per acre, but occasionally growers have grossed as high as $1,000 per acre.

DUST AND DIRT — Dust and dirt are twin enemies of home beauty. Yes, dust and dirt are different. Both can be the means of harming furniture and furnishings, especially rugs and draperies. Rugs and carpets subject to heavy traffic should be cleaned as often as twice to three times a week — daily with a carpet sweeper or vacuum would be better. Regular and careful cleaning prolongs wear to say nothing of giving the home a well-cared-for, tidy atmosphere. Keeping carpets and rugs clean, free from dust and dirt, will pay big dividends in longer wearing years. MOTHS DAMAGE — Moth damage is costly. Moths thrive on woollens, fur, mohair, clothing and floor covering. Moths thrive in warm, dark closets and attics. Cleanliness is the best defense.

against moth damage. So don't store your choice woollens unless they have been carefully cleaned. ELECTRIC CORDS AND PLUGS — A frayed and broken electric wire may cause shock and fire. Never place an electric wire under a rug on which the members of your household walk daily as the covering will wear away, and the wires will become exposed, rub together, and ignite. It's hazardous, too, to use plugs without handle or grips. When you're removing the plug from the outlet, you're apt to pull the cord out of the plug if it doesn't have a handle.

You pay little down

You get the most dollar-for-dollar value in a new Ford. And at trade-in time, Ford returns more of its original price . . . so it costs you less to own and drive. (and the payments are easy)

You get more for your trade-in

Our sales are high . . . so our overhead per car is low. And we're passing this saving on to you in the form of the highest trade-in allowances in our history. (and more car to trade later)

You get tomorrow's styling

Ford's styling will do more than show friends your good taste. Long after other '54 cars are "old hat," your Ford will still be right in style. (another reason why Fords "trade" high)

You get a choice of V-8 or Six

Ford is the world's largest builder of V-8 engines. Many higher priced cars are V-8s but Ford is the only car in the low-price field that offers a V-8. (the only V-8 in its field)

You get ball-joint suspension

New Ball-Joint Front Suspension is the greatest chassis advance in 20 years! Only Ford and two higher-priced cars offer its easier handling and riding. It's yet another way in which Ford's worth more. (the greatest chassis advance in 20 years)
