KEEPS MY COWS MAKING MONEY

It's a lot harder to make money in milk than it was when milk prices were high. Yet, many dairymen are doing it by getting high-production per cow. This might require culling out a few of your poor-est cows...but you'd have a change to make more money chance to make more money. Labor would be less, and daily feed costs would be lower, bebe published next week. The operator is requested to give positive identification of his farm and will receive a free mounted 5 x 7 photograph when he visits the Herald office. (Photo by Zekan-Robbins, Harlan, Iowa.)
