Six years ago—on 10 December, 1948—the United Nations adopted and proclaimed the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. This date is now observed throughout the world as Human Rights Day. The Declaration affirms that "recognition of the inherent dignity and of the inalienable rights of all members of the human family is the foundation of freedom, justice and peace in the world." The United Nations General Assembly now has before it two draft covenants prepared over a period of many years by the U.N. Commission on Human Rights, which would specifically define the rights broadly proclaimed in the Declaration of Human Rights. But, meanwhile, earlier this year (1954), two United Nations Conventions based on the principles of the Human Rights Declaration have come into force. One is the Convention on the Political Rights of Women which repudiates discrimination because of sex in the field of political rights. The other, relating to the Status of Refugees, establishes international standards for refugees many of whom, like the young boy in the photo insert, have escaped from persecution or discrimination and have found new homes in other countries.

Two Players Win Added Grid Honors

Two Kings Mountain high line men have received additional football laurels by receiving honorable mentions on the Charlotte Observer all-state team.

Tackle Ken Cook and Guard Ken Cloninger were listed in the Observer's selection, which included two South Group players—Max Thacker of R.S. and Doug Mauldin of Belmont — on the first team.

Both Cloninger and Cook had been named on the all-South Group club.

Mountaineer Coach Shu Carlton placed third in state-wide balloting among high school coaches for the position as head coach of the West high school all-star team in the annual August game with the East all-stars.

George Wingfield of Reidsville and Preston Mull of Lexington topped the Kings Mountain mentor and will handle the West squad for the game.

"Tell It to the Mountains", Giles Bell.

Janice Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edwin Moore, is piano accompanist. Miss Moore was winner of the music medal presented at the school last year.

New Classes Start
On January 3rd
At Textile School

New classes will be started at the North Carolina Vocational Textile school in all courses, yarn manufacturing, weaving and designing, mill maintenance, knitting and tailoring on Monday, January 3, 1955. These classes will be started on the morning shift, 8:20 a. m. to 1:00 p. m. and the afternoon shift, 3:00 p. m. to 6:30 p. m., according to announcement by C. E. Folk, principal.

Veterans and non-veterans are kept in separate classes and classes will be started for each group January 3rd. There is no tuition charge for a non-veteran who is a resident of the State. He has to buy his books which amounts to $12 to $16 depending upon the course. The veterans' classes are operated as an expanded program of the school and they have to pay tuition. This is a non-profit organization, so the tuition is figured to cover the actual cost of operating the school. The veterans draw subsistence allowance from the Veterans Administration.

It has been our experience that the students who were advised by their overseer or superintendent to take training at the school make the best students, and consequently, the best employees in the mill. We have had recently several superintendents and overseers to tell us that the men who have had training here make better workers, even though they may not always gain a promotion, Mr. Folk said.
