

Round Of Parties Honor Bride-Elect

November bride-elect Norma Farr was honored at two bridal parties recently.

Mrs. I. C. Davis and her daughter, Miss Jean Davis, honored the bride-to-be with a miscellaneous shower attended by guests at the recreation building of First Presbyterian church.

The bride's table was decorated with a place setting in Miss Farr's china pattern, later presented as the gift from the two hostesses. White flowers and a dove were used as the centerpiece.

Party refreshments were served to guests from Kings Mountain, Gastonia, Grover and Charlotte.

Miss Farr received a novelty corsage which she pinned to the shoulder of her navy blue and white dress.

Mrs. E. W. Neal honored Miss Farr at a Thursday Night kitchen shower attended by 21 guests at the Neal home. Games were television commercials featuring kitchen items.

The bride-elect received a novelty corsage which she pinned to her black and white party dress. Kitchen arrangements of fruits and vegetables were used in decorations.

Mrs. Neal served parfait with coffee.

Miss Farr and Bill Herndon will be married Nov. 7 in Boyce Memorial ARP church.

Leanne Christa Robbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Robbs, celebrated her second birthday Wednesday at a "Three Bears" party attended by 46 children.

Yolanda Cobb was dressed to represent the storybook character, Goldilocks, and "baby bear" along with the other characters was featured in the entertainment.

The birthday cake was topped with three bears and party refreshments were served.

Young Miss Robbs is granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Sanders and Mrs. J. H. Robbs, all of Kings Mountain. Her great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Sanders, also of Kings Mountain.

Michael Lewis Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Mitchell of 404 Baker street, will be five years old Friday. Twenty-two guests, including a number of relatives, helped Michael celebrate his birthday Sunday.

The birthday cake, iced in blue roses, was centerpiece for the refreshment table. Blue-iced cupcakes were also served with ice cream and other refreshments.

Young Mitchell is grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Mitchell of Hinesville, Ga.

Comings And Goings

Mrs. Odell Benton and Mrs. Howard Swafford are back from Raleigh where they represented No. 4 Township Grange at the 37th annual convention of the North Carolina State Grange.

The convention was held Wednesday through Friday at Hotel Sir Walter and featured presentation of community service awards to outstanding Granges in the state. The No. 4 Township Grange received a $25 cash award for its project, assisting in organization of a Bethlehem Community Fire Department. Mrs. Benton was project chairman.

Betty Feezor, WBTB home economist, was Friday luncheon speaker for ladies attending the convention. Governor Dan Moore addressed the Thursday night convention. A reception was held at the Mansion for Grange members on Saturday afternoon.

Brownie And Junior Girl Scouts Win Troop Awards

Brownie Troop 32 and Troop 155 Junior Scouts of First Presbyterian church received Star awards and membership pins during an investiture service Thursday afternoon.

Seven Brownies "flew up" to the Junior Troop from Brownie Troop 32 and were given "fly up wings" and pins.

Mrs. Charles Blanton and Mrs. Bob Southwell, Brownie leaders, and Mrs. Sam Robinson, Junior Scout leader, conducted the program which was attended by parents of the girls.

A social hour was held after the service and refreshments were served.

Troop 32 includes 10 Brownies and Troop 155 includes 23 girls, all of whom received stars for each year in the Girl Scouting program.

Other Fall activities by area Girl Scouts included:

Troop 157 held a rededication ceremony October 22nd at 4 p.m. at the Boyce Memorial ARP church.

A table was arranged with three tall candles to represent the three parts of the Girl Scout Promise and 10 smaller candles to represent the 10 Girl Scout Laws.

Ten Scouts took part in the ceremony by repeating a Law and then lighting one of the 10 candles used on the table to represent the Law.

Seven Brownie Scouts, Debbie Brackett, Jean Hallman, Rhonda Bell, Pamela Martin, Lynn Flowers, Gail Blake, and Johanna Phifer said their Girl Scout Promise, received the Girl Scout pins and became Junior Girl Scouts.

A flag ceremony was also presented by five Girl Scouts.

Refreshments were served after the ceremony to the Scouts and their invited guests. Serving refreshments were Jane Talbert, Betsy Queen and Carol Goforth.

Over one hundred Cadette Girl Scouts and their leaders had an encampment at Camp Rotary the weekend of October 23-24.

On Saturday the Scouts participated in a Wide Game which proved a test of their knowledge of nature as well as the Girl Scout program. Saturday night supper featured an international menu with each patrol bringing a dish representative of a different nationality. This was followed by a night of fun with every group presenting a song, game, or dance from another nation. A report of the Senior Roundup held in Idaho was given by Ann Carriel, Senior Scout, who attended this event. After a snack hour, girls retired to various parts of the camp where they had previously set up camping for their patrols.

On Sunday morning after the flag ceremony, a large hot breakfast was served in the main lodge at camp which helped to dispel the chill of the frosty morning. A Scout's Own, interdenominational inspirational service, was held after breakfast. This was led by Scouts from the First Presbyterian church of Gastonia, with Mrs. Charles Eyer as coordinator. Scouts then broke into groups according to interest. The patrol Workshop was directed by Mrs. J. C. Little, Jr., of Mt. Holly. Mrs. C. J. Deltz of Belmont led the group which studied opportunities for service for Cadette Scouts. Mrs. Sylvia Holmes of Kings Mountain moderated a workshop on Cadette Challenges. Preparing for Senior Opportunities was the interest of another group meeting with Miss Kay Anderson and Miss Barbara Forbes, field advisors for the Pioneer Girl Scout Council.

Sunday dinner and a song fest ended the encampment for Cadettes.
