

Lutheran Men Met Wednesday

Lutheran Church Men, Delegates and visitors from churches ranging from seashore to westernmost county scheduled twelve hours of business and discussions of the convention theme, "Honest With God," beginning with 9 a.m. registration and concluding with the banquet benediction about 9 p.m.

HARRIS Funeral Home

KINGS MOUNTAIN, NORTH CAROLINA

Dear friends,

We are sure the average citizen would be surprised to know how much equipment the modern funeral director must have.

We are constantly adding to this equipment to further improve our service. Much of this additional investment is not apparent to the public, but it is nonetheless essential if we are to maintain the high standards we have set for our services.

Respectfully,

J. Lee Harris

Circus Coming On Wednesday To Charlotte

CHARLOTTE — Quick, George get the perfume!

Get a quart of it and squirt it all over those sroelly camels so they will not be so ripe when the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus plays the Charlotte Coliseum, Wednesday, November 10 through Sunday, November 14.

"Camels get pretty ripe under the best of circumstances," says Jack Joyce, who puts his churlish charges through their paces for the circus. "They've got halitosis so bad a strong breath will burn your eyes. So, we have to deodorize them. If we didn't, people would have to watch our act through a telescope."

The camels may not be humping advertisements for Chanel 5 but they will be at least presentable when the circus comes here. And if they are not pleasing to the nose they are presentable to the eye.

Camels are intelligent beasts. They learn quickly and know what they are supposed to do. But teaching a camel a trick and getting him to do it are two different matters. They are balky, stubborn, mean and not above biting the hand that leads them.

"People seem to love the act," says Joyce. "I wish they knew what we have to go through to get them to perform. Handling a child with a tantrum is child's play compared to dealing with a temperamental camel."

The circus will be presented at the Coliseum Wednesday through Saturday night, on Friday and Saturday afternoon and twice on Sunday afternoon. Tickets are now on sale at the Coliseum Box Office. Prices are $3.50, $3, $2.50, $2 and $1. Children will be admitted for half price on Friday afternoon only.

Talk Turkey This Season

Turkeys take the featured spot on the plentiful foods list for November. The U. S. Department of Agriculture expects turkey marketings this month to be nearly five per cent above Nov. 1964—and that's talking turkey just in time for Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Ruby Uzzle, consumer marketing economist at N. C. State University, says other foods on the plentiful list are varied enough to make up more than one budget-minded menu. Apples, potatoes, onions, cabbage, frozen concentrated orange juice, split peas and rice all are abundant.

The second largest apple crop since 1949 means apples will continue plentiful. Use them to decorate as well as to eat, by arranging colorful bowls or baskets of apples for the Thanksgiving table centerpiece.

Potato production has been high this year, and the largest fall crop on record is the result. Consumers can expect their pick of potatoes to cook in all their favorite ways.

For the soup of the evening, split pea soup is the smart selection in November. Split peas are in heavy supply and will sell at reasonable prices. To make split pea soup something special, try adding cooked carrot slivers and sliced frankfurters or Vienna sausage.

Cabbage and onions, those prosaic but flavorful vegetables, are being harvested in larger than last-year amounts. USDA expects onion production 15 per cent above last year and cabbage production 8 per cent above 1964.

It's a juicy situation for consumers as prunes and frozen concentrated orange juice continue plentiful. Put prune juice on your shopping list right along with prunes—both will be in good supply.

And plan to attend a lot of November weddings. For the fourth consecutive year, a record "rice" harvest is expected.

FM 1/C Ledbetter On USS Intrepid

USS INTREPID (CVS 11 (FHTNC) Oct. 27 — Radioman First Class Charles W. Ledbetter, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson E. Ledbetter of 304 York Road, Kings Mountain, N. C., is serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare (ASW) support air carrier USS Intrepid, which has been named the best in her class in the U. S. Atlantic Fleet.

Intrepid has won both the highest annual fleet awards for excellence and proficiency in her field—the "E" for Battle Readiness and the "A" for ASW operations.

This is the Intrepid's second consecutive "E". The "A" was won once before, in 1963, only a year after the carrier was redesignated.

Bonds Sales Set Record High

The month of September was record producing for the sale of U. S. Savings Bonds in North Carolina. It was the best September on record as bond sales amounted to $4,499,000, an increase of nearly 15% over bonds sold in September of a year ago.

Total bond sales for this year are running ahead of last year in North Carolina. For the first nine months of this year cumulative sales amounted to over $39 million, which is the highest recorded for any comparable period since 1956.

North Carolina has reached nearly 74% of its annual quota of $53,100,000 in the first three quarters of this year.

Sales in Cleveland County totaled $32,197 for the month of September. January - September sales mounted to $396,242, which is 72.1% of the county's $124,800 goal for 1965. In making this report George Blanton, Jr., County Volunteer Chairman, stated "the fact that North Carolinians continue to purchase U. S. Savings Bonds in such volume and at a time when there is much competition for the savings dollars indicates both the practical and patriotic Savings Bonds afford bond buyers." He further pointed out that a great percentage of bond sales are through the Payroll Savings Plan, which is widely supported by the firms in North Carolina.

Liberty Loan Profits Reported

Liberty Loan Corporation's reported net earnings, after taxes, for the first nine months of 1965 were $3,948,495, which is equal to $1.53 per common share on the 2,421,477 common shares outstanding September 30, 1965, after deduction of preferred and preference dividends. The company's figures for the first nine months of 1964 were $3,703,342 or $1.44 per share on 2,359,770 common shares outstanding September 30, 1964. The increase for the first nine months of 1965 over the same period of 1964 is $246,153 and is equal to a 6.6% percent increase.

The results of the first nine months of 1965 and 1964 have been restated to reflect the acquisition of the net assets of a company which was treated as "pooling of interests" for accounting purposes.

On September 30, 1965, the company had in operation 64 loan offices in 492 cities in 31 states.
