

Church Rites Sunday Afternoon Unite Miss Norma Farr, Bill Woodrow Herndon

Miss Norma Louise Farr became the bride of Bill Woodrow Herndon Sunday in a 3:30 p.m. exchange of vows in Boyce Memorial Associate Reformed Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Thomas L. Richie, minister of the church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. N. F. McGill, Sr. was organist for the program of traditional music. Tolly Martin Shuford, Jr. was vocal soloist.

Organ program included: "Thanks Be To Thee" by Handel; Bach's "From the Depths of My Heart"; "O Lord, Most Holy" by Franck; "O Loving Savior" by Gounod; Schubert's "Ave Maria"; "The Lord Is My Shepherd" by Crimond-Trichard; and "O Perfect Love" by Barnby.

Mr. Shuford sang "Entr'acte Me Not to Leave Thee" by Gounod before the ceremony and Dunlap's "Wedding Prayer" as the benediction.

The altar of the church was arranged with tree candelabra holding lighted tapers. Green palms formed a background and a large arrangement of white mums and glads centered the setting which was highlighted by an open Bible and Bride's candle on an individual stand.

Norwood Milton Farr escorted the bride to the altar and gave her in marriage. Her wedding gown was an Alfred Angelo Original of white silk organza, featuring a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves. The full skirt, highlighted by lace appliques and a bustle bow, swept into a chapel train. Her bouffant length veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a crown of imported Alencon lace delicately traced in pearls and crystals, and she carried the white Bible given her by her father. A bouquet of white gardenias was arranged atop the Bible.

Miss Brenda Ann Herndon of Hendersonville, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and only attendant. Her floor-length gown of willow green satin in duchesse was fashioned with bateau neckline and elbow length sleeves. A miniature how accentuated the front waistline. A bow caught to the back neckline with streamers falling to the hemline of the bell shape skirt. She wore a matching satin hair bow with circular tulle veil attached and carried a cascade of bronze chrysanthemums.

The bridegroom's father was best man. The list of ushers included John W. Leagon of Newton, cousin of the bride; Charles W. Herndon, cousin of the bride; and Mrs. Keith (Bud) Bumgardner and Jerry R. Black, all of Kings Mountain.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Farr was gowned in a sheath dress of teal silk crepe styled with scoop neckline and elbow length sleeves. The waistline was circled with self cord which was caught at the front in scroll design. She wore a matching silk petal hat, matching slippers and a yellow hybrid orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother chose an olive green full-length sleeve dress with self cord cinching the waistline and a jewel necklace. She wore matching hat and slippers and a yellow hybrid orchid corsage.

Mrs. A. L. Allran, grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a black crepe jacket dress with black accessories and a corsage of white gladiolus.

Miss Sally Leagon and Mrs. Jane K. Robinson kept a guest register in the vestibule of the church. Each wore a street-length dress with matching accessories and white carnation shoulder corsage.

The bride and bridegroom and members of the wedding party stood in a receiving line to greet wedding guests after the ceremony in the vestibule of the church, the bride's family later serving refreshments to a number of friends, relatives and out-town guests who called at the Farr home. Wedding cake was served with punch from a table decorated in the wedding theme.

For a wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tennessee, the new Mrs. Herndon wore a heather green two-piece wool suit with velvet collar accented by a lemon yellow blouse. Her accessories were alligator slippers and bag and a mink pillbox hat. She lifted the gardenias from her bridal bouquet.

The newlyweds will be at home at 1317 Grover road. BRIDE AND BRIDEGROOM Only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Milton Farr, the bride is a graduate of Kings Mountain high school and Charlotte Memorial Hospital School of Histologic Technique. She is employed by Gaston Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Blanton Addresses Fall Meeting Of State Pharmaceutical Auxiliary

Mrs. Charles Blanton "Be Like The Rooster" — advised Mrs. Charles D. Blanton, Jr., of Kings Mountain, President of the Woman's Auxiliary of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association, addressing the Fall Convocation of members and officers, in session at the Institute of Pharmacy, Chapel Hill.

"The rooster has a major job to perform," she said. "He awakens the town; he crows, never asking whether the job is interesting, not waiting to be told how wonderful he is, not ashamed of his lack of melodious voice — he does the job cut out for him, to the best of his ability. He does not wait to be prodded, does not have to be called to his task—he performs promptly, un-faillingly, unceasingly."

Mrs. Blanton's talk followed that given by W. T. Boone of Ahsokie, president of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association of plans being made for the 1966 Annual Convention to be held in her city in June, describing arrangement being made for holding a "family" type meeting, an innovation for the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association.

Mrs. Stauri Vandeviere, Chapel Hill, welcomed the Auxiliary members to the Convocation. She is vice-president of the Chapel Hill Women's Pharmaceutical Auxiliary, which served as luncheon hosts.

Officers and members of the Woman's Auxiliary attended. Mrs. Blanton is wife of Charles D. Blanton, Kings Mountain druggist, who has been elected president of the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association for 1966-67.

At the meeting she stressed the growing trend toward professionalism in pharmacy. He explained to the wives in attendance the multitude of duties performed by the pharmacist in his daily practice. He also announced plans for remodeling and expanding the plant of the Institute of Pharmacy.

Committee reports included that of the Ways and Means Chairman, Mrs. William G. Forrest, Gastonia, who spoke of various tentative plans for participation in the Institute program, as well as methods of assistance to the general profession of Pharmacy.

Mrs. Phillip Crouch, Asheville, National marketing quota referendums for both cotton and peanuts also will be held on Nov. 23. The cotton quota vote will be for the 1966 crop only; the decision on peanut quotas will be for three years.

In each of the referendums, approval by two-thirds of those voting is required for the issue to carry.

Polling places will be those designated by county officials of their Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Roscoe W. Howey of Waxhaw, president of the Cotton Promotion Association, urged Tar Heel cotton farmers to give the strongest possible support both to marketing quotas and to the promotion program.

Howey, a producer, said the promotional organization "has provided the spark for renewed interest in cotton" in North Carolina. He said it is "vitaly important" for growers to reaffirm their support of the program in the assessment referendum.

"Failure of the marketing quota referendum nationally would be disastrous to the future of cotton in North Carolina," Howey said. "It is important that the farmers of our State give quotas the largest possible favorable vote."

Two events for Country Clubbers and guests are scheduled next week.

A barbecue supper family night is scheduled before the Lincolnton-Kings Mountain football game. Serving will begin at 5:30 p.m.

The monthly bridge luncheon is scheduled Wednesday, Nov. 17.

Health And Safety Tips

Don't eat wild mushrooms. Repeat — Don't eat wild mushrooms.

Only a true expert can determine whether the wild mushroom is one of the tasty, safe varieties, or is one of those that is dangerously, possibly deadly, sometimes are fooled, so much alike are some of the varieties.

After fall rains it is common to find mushrooms and toadstools in hundreds of sizes and shapes sprouting in woods and fields. Sometimes it makes a pleasant outing to stroll through the woods on a crisp fall day and pick mushrooms.

If you enjoy a walk through the woods, go ahead. If you want to pick mushrooms, fine. But don't eat them. Throw them out, and be sure they're beyond the reach of any small children in the household.

Some ten persons were stricken this fall in the North New Jersey-New York City area after eating wild mushrooms. Several of them died, and all were seriously ill.

If someone in your family becomes ill after eating wild mushrooms, the most important first aid is to get the patient to a doctor immediately. If the accident occurs in a remote spot, the first aider should help the patient empty his stomach promptly. Induce vomiting by placing your finger at the back of the victim's throat or by use of two tablespoons of salt in a glass of warm water.

DECORATING TIPS

HOW SHOULD YOU ARRANGE FURNITURE

Here is some timely advice.

1. Be sure your living room has one main center of interest.
2. It's usually a good idea to assemble some living room furniture in groupings for conversation. In such a grouping, try to arrange for a table or surface area for the convenience of those using each chair. Such tables should be available to hold drinks, ash trays, etc.
3. A successful room has both harmony and contrast. Use some colors and shapes that are similar and some that are not.
4. Another thing to strive for is "balance". Don't place all your heavy pieces on one side or one end of the room. It would then appear top-heavy. Height should be distributed.
5. Furniture should serve; it shouldn't interfere. Don't make the mistake so many people seem to make of letting furniture interfere with doors, windows and easy passage within a room and between rooms.

And to get some specific furniture ideas for your home, come on in and browse in our store. There's absolutely no obligation, and we'll look forward to helping you.
