News items this week from Lenoir, Tyrrell, Anson, McDowell, Yadkin, and Pitt counties.

TELLS ABOUT FINLAND

Wanda Alphin, Rt. 4, Kinston, recently returned from Finland where she lived and worked with farm families as part of the International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) program.

I lived with seven different families in different parts of the country," she told Mrs. Marguerite Kennedy, home economics extension agent, Lenoir County. "Some families were urban, some rural. They had a wide range of incomes."

Among other things Miss Alphin learned to cook Finnish foods, enjoy sauna baths, and study in Finnish schools. She said, "Finnish cities are modern and farms are becoming more so, as families buy milking machines, tractors, and other equipment. A mobile store comes into the rural areas each week to supply families with items they do not produce on the farm," she adds.

Miss Alphin found the Finns a do-it-yourself people. "Their small farms are models of self-efficiency for the families they serve," she reports.

RESTORES CRADLE

By using refinishing techniques taught in an Extension workshop, Mrs. H. T. White, Tyrrell County, restored an antique cradle. The cradle, a rocker style with metal hinges that are ornate and graceful, had been in the family for years. Mrs. Ann Davenport, county extension home economics agent, says Mrs. White is pleased with the result. "Just think of the money I got from doing the work myself," she said.

SPACE NEEDS

Laundry equipment takes up more space than a homemaker may imagine, Mrs. Rebecca Gaddy, home economics extension agent, Anson County, says. A washer and dryer usually takes 5 feet of space; the ironing area, including table, clothes basket, and garment hanger, 7 square feet.

SPRUCE UP WARDROBE

"I haven't got a thing to wear" is a common complaint. However, Rachel Keisler, home economics extension agent, McDowell County, says it would be more accurate to say "I haven't got an appropriate thing to wear."

To be well-dressed, choose garments that accentuate the positive in your size, personality, features, and coloring, she advises.

QUILTING PARTY

Quilting is a form of entertainment and a money-making activity for two Home Demonstration Club women of the Windsors Cross community in Yadkin County. Miss Bessie Cook and Mrs. Paul Tubert have already made five quilts this winter. Not only do these ladies quilt for themselves; they have quilting parties for club members, Irene Brown, county extension home economics agent, reports. Three quilts, made by club members have been sold, and the money was used to improve the community building.

4-H WELCOME

Motorists coming in and going out on major highways in Pitt County will soon be greeted by 4-H Welcome Signs. According to Mrs. Linda Humphrey, assistant extension home economics agent, the project started with a campaign promise.

While running for president of the Pitt County 4-H Council, Bob Chandler of the Eastern Pines community included as a major part of his political platform "to place 4-H welcome signs at all major entrances to the county."

The one obstacle was money. Each community club was asked to sponsor the full cost or partial cost of a sign. Girls held cake sales, boys did odd jobs. Some club members, sold candy ad notions, others held a car wash, others sponsored educational exhibits at the county fair. They raised the needed $156.

Pvt. Edward Webb Wins Promotion

U. S. ARMY, (AHTNC)—Edward L. Webb, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon J. Webb, 209 S. 11th St., Bessemer City, N. C., was promoted to private first class Jan. 22 in Germany, where he is serving with the 10th Artillery.

Hospital Shares In Endowment

The Duke Endowment is distributing this week $1,404,392 to help hospitals and child care institutions in North Carolina and South Carolina finance their charity services.

Kings Mountain Hospital, a 77-bed institution here, has been appropriated $4,620. Last year's grant was $5,207.

Ryster Memorial hospital, a 40-bed institution at Bolling Springs, will receive $2,457. Last year's grant was $1,506.

The announcement was made Wednesday by James R. Felts, Jr., executive director of the Hospital and Child Care sections. He said that 130 hospitals are receiving $885,933 and 43 child care institutions, $318,459. The total amount being distributed in North Carolina is $848,056, in South Carolina, $536,336.

The hospital contributions are based on $1 a day for each free day of care in the fiscal year which ended September 30, 1965.

By R. B. MOORE

Driving isn't just a way to travel, it's a responsibility to yourself and others. We always think that accidents will never happen to us. It's the other people that we see along the highways and expressways involved in accidents that we think are to blame but we must remember that they had the same thought at some time or another, that they would never be involved in an accident. Let's don't let this happen to us. Please try to observe the three "C's". Concentration, control and courtesy. It's important to be familiar with the state and highway signs provided for our protection. These are a few of them. Learn them. Obey them. You'll be a better driver and a safer one. Happy driving.

Watch for this new sign on the backs of trucks and other vehicles.
