

Organist Welsh At Davidson

Davidson, N. C. — Organist Wilmer H. Welsh, associate professor of music at Davidson College, will be heard in his annual spring recital at 8:15 p.m., Friday, March 4, in the Davidson College Presbyterian Church on the Davidson campus. The program is presented free and the public is cordially invited.

Welsh will play the Johann Sebastian Bach "Catechism." This work is a musical statement of the principal articles of the Christian Faith. The body of the work consists of ten extended chorale preludes for manuals and pedal, interspersed with shorter chorale preludes, fuguettes and duets for manual alone. All sections except the Kyrie and Gloria are melodically based on Lutheran catechetical hymns from which the whole work derives its name. All sections for manuals alone in this composition will be omitted for this concert, however.

Professor Welsh played this all-Bach recital at St. Paul's Chapel at Columbia University in New York and at Cornell University recently. He was heard in the dedicatory recital of the rebuilt organ at Mitchell College in Statesville a few weeks ago.

A recognized composer of both keyboard and choral music, Wilmer Welsh was just notified of his election to membership in the American Music Center, Inc., in New York City. He is a member of the Charlotte Chapter of the American Guild of Organists and is listed in "Who's Who in Music in the South and the Southwest." Compositions by the organist were heard in performance at

Convert Farm Into Spot For Vacation

RALEIGH — Some farm families in North Carolina believe it's what you do with what you have that counts. In addition to working their land, they've increased their income by converting their farms into vacation spots for city dwellers.

As one family member put it, "It's a way of getting paid for what we're already doing."

Miss Iola Pritchard, extension specialist in food conservation and marketing, North Carolina State University, says the farm vacation idea has great potential for some North Carolina families.

The state is geographically rural, with a rich heritage, varied climate and topography, marvelous scenery all the way from the coast to the mountains, and many recreational, educational, and historical sites. As someone said, "You name it and North Carolina has it."

Although a farm may be located in a natural vacation setting, there is much preparation a host family must do before starting such a venture.

One important thought is "Do you like people?" Another is "Do the February meetings of the Charlotte organists."

Professor Welsh received his training and degrees at Peabody Conservatory and Johns Hopkins University and taught at Hood College in Maryland and Winthrop College in Rock Hill before joining the Davidson music faculty in 1963.

Lithium Signs Dow Contract

Lithium Corporation of America and Salzedorf, Hanover, West Germany, who are partners in a project to produce chemicals and minerals from the brine of Great Salt Lake, today announced that they had signed an option contract with The Dow Chemical Company covering the sale to Dow of magnesium chloride for use in the production of magnesium metal. LCA also announced that it had entered alone into a separate option contract with Dow covering Dow's requirements of lithium chloride for use in the production of magnesium.

LCA is a leading producer of lithium and lithium chemicals, and Salzedorf is one of the world's leading producers of potash. The Dow Chemical Company now produces magnesium at its facilities in Freeport, Texas.

You have the facilities and time to start on a small or trial basis without much cash investment? If so, this will give you a chance to see if you wish to invest more time and money in the project.

Food, water, and sanitation needs must be thought of. Time, money, and energy management must be considered, Miss Pritchard notes.

If you have the needed time, facilities, and love of people, and wish to convert your farm into a vacation spot, you can get more information from your county extension home economics agent or extension chairman.
