Oratorio Group
To Present
Elijah Oratorio

Charlotte's Oratorio Singers will culminate an event-packed fifteenth season with a gala performance of Mendelssohn's dramatic oratorio, ELIJAH, on Saturday, April 30, at 8:15 p.m., in Owens Auditorium, Charlotte.

This performance will be the first complete presentation of the popular work in this area. Many of the exciting choruses and solos have never been heard by music lovers here. A full orchestra of 45 pieces will accompany the 160-voice chorus. Portraying Elijah will be Carvin Marsh, leading baritone of the Metropolitan Opera. Soprano soloist will be Donno Jeffrey of the New York City Opera Company. Returning because of his vast popularity will be Walter Carringer, tenor. Also returning after two highly successful appearances in the past is contralto Joanne Cruickshank. Music Director Donald Plott, Chairman of the Music Department at Davidson College, will conduct the concert.

A limited number of tickets are still available at the Oratorio office in Charlotte, 519 Fenton Place, telephone 375-7512. Prices are: $3, $2.50, 1.50, with a special price of $1.00 for students. Mail orders will be accepted.

Elijah is perhaps the best-loved oratorio in the choral repertory, except, possibly, Handel's Messiah. In broad and colorful style it tells the story of the story of the prophet and makes, as someone has said, the "Bible come to life". Solos and choruses alike are magnificent and dramatic. Many are often used as single presentations in church services, such as the choruses, "He, Watching Over the Lord", "If With All Your Hearts" and "Hear Ye, Israel". The chorus is often used to comment upon the story—and they play the part of the crowds as they cry for help from "Baal" and finally from God. Many who have heard Elijah only with organ or piano will be amazed at the additional color and brilliance added by the orchestra. Mendelssohn's skill at orchestration is much in evidence here. New acoustical arrangements used at Owens for the past two concerts by the Oratorio Singers will bring all this choral and orchestral sound to the audience with renewed impact. The chorus will be the largest in his story—160 voices. With the addition of the orchestra, over 200 people will join to project this great musical treat to those listening.

Spring Clean-Up Starts In Attic

Cleaning out the attic is an excellent place to start your Spring clean-up.

Old papers and magazines, oily rags and old clothes, old paint and cleaners are prime combustibles that can flare into flames and cause a tragic fire in your home, the American Insurance Association warns.

These and other articles that are stored in the attic during the year should be removed to help assure a fire-free home.
