4. Realizing that our Sanitation Department has an increasingly difficult task in collecting garbage, we request that all our citizens acquire, if they do not already own, closed garbage cans, ten to thirty gallons in size.

5. We request that the businessmen of our city remove all outdated signs in the business areas of our city.

The committee added: "The members of this committee realize that all of these requests are made in an effort to enhance the health, safety and welfare of our fellow citizens along with beautifying our city. Our city government has agreed to furnish the necessary labor and equipment, free of charge, for a period of thirty days beginning May 21, 1966 to help everyone in cleaning up their properties. The city will cut vines, remove vacant houses, remove abandoned automobiles, tires, old lumber, refrigerators, and bathtubs, for this thirty day period."

"Our hearts beat a little faster when we read 'Kings Mountain, the Historical City', should not this also be true if we added 'The Beautiful and - Healthy City'. civil disobedience. It is simply saying that there may be occasions when the only hope for our society lies outside of existing laws.

The church isn't even advocating active resistance — just refusal to obey laws that lead men to sin against God and one another. No one should pretend that civil disobedience is a "right" of citizens. It is exactly what it says — outside present laws.

The danger in such a position is that some may not try any reform under the present legal system but move directly to active disobedience in any and all matters.

Just for the sake of disobeying and defying all authority and maybe even working for bad laws. But the churches have insisted that civil disobedience is always a last resort after every other means has been exhausted. It is not to be taken lightly or cheaply but used by honest men with much discretion.

Civil disobedience is dangerous from another angle also. Who is to determine when it is time to go against the present system of things? That is not easy to answer. Is this to be left to the individual conscience or a concerned church or a small but vocal minority or outside agitation? It may be that no man living has the answer to such a question.

Yet, history has proved that ground swells of social change have a way of rising up and changing the Roman Empire and Europe and England and even Russia and the United States. Who knows where it comes from or what it will be next? It may even be the Spirit of God bringing in his kingdom and calling us to task where we are short.

Civil disobedience is a dangerous position no one denies that. It can be easily understood. It has no exact guide lines or time schedules.

Yet if we do not allow for civil disobedience we find ourselves saying, "My country, right or wrong, first, last and always." That sounds patriotic but it may also be ungodly.

Anyone who does more than just surface thinking on the subject will have to leave room for civil disobedience. If we do not leave room for it then that means blindly following a government and glibly accepting any and all laws which are enacted by that government regardless of their consequences. This becomes known as Quietism.

The prime example of this was Nazi Germany. The people of that country saw Hitler take over. They saw rights and religion removed. They saw Jews being carted off to the "death" camps. They saw a giant war machine erected. They knew what was going on but they raised no voice of protest or act of disobedience until it was too late. They were quiet through it all on the assumption that no one has the right to question a legally constituted government much less defy it with acts of civil disobedience.

Many people today ask, "Where was the church in Germany through all of this?" The answer is the church was exactly where many people today want it, sitting quietly in its own little corner above and beyond it all.

It is not beyond the imagination for us to conceive of ourselves waking us one morning to find that good government with just laws has been replaced by a demonic government with all of the horrors that that can mean: no just recourse or appeal; no property or rights of any kind; fighting wars and bent on world domination; pretending to be a master race and nation with all others good for nothing but to be our slaves; no say in our children's education or influence on their lives. Are we, in that day, to follow dumbly and commit sin after atrocious sin fully conscious of what we are doing yet never giving a care?

Let us not rule out civil disobedience as a last resort. It may be the tool of the liberal today. But tomorrow it may be the hope of the conservative.

went to Herald Publishing House of Kings Mountain and one-year certificates went to City Floor Service, Kings Mountain Machine Works and Paul Mauney, Inc.

The principal address was made by Dr. George D. Heaton of Charlotte, industrial relations consultant and a former pastor of Charlotte's Myers Park Baptist church.

"The most important and decisive factor in safety is to get the individual to come to a feeling of the facts", said Dr. Heaton, citing statistics that 15,000 people are killed everyday in industry and one-half of all accidents occur in the person's first year of employment in a plant. "Unless strongly emotionally motivated by facts, two million people in the age bracket 20-24 never do anything about them," he added.

ATTEND COURSE Mrs. Knox Davis, Mrs. Edith Lovell and Mrs. Sandy Rhea have returned from Columbia, S. C. where they completed a course in advanced hair-styling led by Mrs. Betty Hayes. The three beauticians are members of the staff of Knox Kut-n-Kurl on Shelby road.

Teens On Sex Education Question: Girls Divide, Boys Are Opposed

Parents in North Carolina are still having a tough time telling their children about the birds and the bees according to the latest First Union National Bank Community Opinion Poll. Of the 35,000 people who voted across the state, 69 per cent thought sex education should be taught in public schools.

Despite the total vote, there was a big split between the teenagers and their elders. A total of 60 per cent of the boys voted against formal sex education in class while the girls split 50-50 per cent. In the category over 40 years old 85 per cent of the women and 79 per cent of the men voted to include sex in the curriculum.

E. R. Alexander, executive officer in charge in Kings Mountain, stated, "Many written votes suggested the church should share in the responsibility".

According to results on another question, congressmen won't have to worry about campaigning for re-election every two years. There were 68 per cent of those polled that favored extending the term of office for congressmen from two to four years. The largest single group who want to double the term were men between 20 and 30 years old. They voted 85 per cent to 15 per cent for the increase.

On another question 71 per cent favored some type of legislation controlling the production and use of pesticides.

A fourth question got 72 per cent to 28 per cent, who believed that airline personnel should be allowed authority to search luggage when they suspect bombing attempts.

The Community Opinion Poll is conducted monthly by many of First Union's 92 offices across North Carolina.
