Scott Benefit Sale Saturday

Cleveland County fairgrounds will team with "farm day" activity Saturday, March 16, when at least 40 feeder cows will go on the auction block in a fund-raising stunt for dairyman Bob Scott who seeks the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the May primary.

Businessman Pat Spangler, who is managing Scott's campaign in this county, says the democratic donkey will take a back seat when the auction gets underway at 2 p.m., "for these cows are gonna 'moo' their own tune" for the dairy farmer candidate.

And by the time the sale is over, Scott supporters hope to add sufficiently to campaign funds to promote the Haw River candidate to the governor's seat. "The fund-raising event is the first of its kind to be held over the state and is expected to initiate a chain of similar activity in campaign promotions over the state. The sale has been heartily endorsed by Scott and his headquarters.

The best cattle have been donated by Scott supporters in each of the county's 28 precincts. Spangler explains. Amazed at the willingness to share in the event, Spangler says many of the cows have been given by individuals while others have contributed toward the purchase of an animal to be auctioned.

Local auctioneer Roy Dedmon will handle the sale to which the public has been invited.

Further contributions to the sale will be welcomed, Spangler emphasized, and anyone who would like to donate cattle to the Bob Scott campaign is invited to call headquarters in the old Union Trust building.

Here are a couple of simple tricks that can solve the problem of a sticking door:
Open the door wide and check looseness of the hinges, tightening the screws if needed. If wood is too torn up to tighten the screw, insert a wood peg coated with glue and drill out for the screw.
If this doesn't do the trick, shim the hinges with layers of cardboard. Behind the bottom hinge, a shim will cure sticking at the bottom and a shim behind the top hinge will do so there.

Newspapers Produce Light And Information. Their Absence Results In Darkness.

Correct information is invaluable to a free people and for keeping a free people free.

Few other nations of the world are as fortunate as the United States, which, through the wisdom of their forefathers, is legatee of a heritage of freedom of speech, of assembly, of religious worship, and of the press.

Maintaining of these freedoms has not always been easy, but they have nevertheless been maintained through the years.

A free press is the cornerstone of the others. Without the dissemination of the news — factual information gathered by trained professional newsmen — the other freedoms would soon be abrogated in practice, if not in the text of the United States Constitution.
