

Mauney, Jones Roark, Falls Hear Speech

TRYON — Candidates for the Democratic nomination to the three seats in District 43 of the N. C. House of Representatives were present Friday night at a meeting of the Tryon City Schools NCEA unit.

W. K. (Billy) Mauney of Kings Mountain and Robert Jones of Forest City unopposed candidates for Seat No. 1 and 3, respectively, and Shelbians Lester D. Roark and Robert Z. Falls, who are both running for Seat No. 2, along with Tryon and Polk County NCEA members, heard a keynote speech by Laxton Hamrick on the United Forces for Education proposal for 1969.

Hamrick is the former superintendent of Tryon City Schools. Polk, Henderson and Haywood He is now principal of Mount County senatorial district.

Holly School in Gaston County.

His address touched on all three points of the UFE proposal — base salary schedule starting at $6,000 and ranging of $12,000 annually; summer programs, including kindergarten, an enrichment program, remedial work and vocational training; 2,000 additional school personnel for North Carolina, to reduce teaching classroom loads and to provide clerical assistance for teachers.

Hamrick called on the potential legislators to support the programs.

Also present at the meeting was Doyle Smith of Hendersonville. Smith is a Republican candidate for the state senate from the United Forces for Education proposal for 1969.

The 43rd House District includes Polk, Cleveland and Rutherford Counties.

The candidates were questioned regarding their stands on the educational proposals following Hamrick's speech.
