

Social Security Questions & Answers

Q. My mother died when I was 10 years old. I am 28 now, but have been disabled since birth. My claim on her earnings was turned down because she had not worked in the last 3 years of her life. Has the law been changed so that I may now qualify on her earnings?

A. Recent changes in the law make it possible for children to qualify on their mother's earnings the same as on their father's earnings. You should contact your social security office and file a new claim.

Q. I am 25 years of age and have been totally disabled since birth. I have never been able to work. My mother died when I was 17 years old, but my father's claim for me was denied. I do not know why. Would it do me any good to apply for benefits on my mother's record?

A. Based on your question it is impossible to give a definite "yes" or "no" answer. The answer depends upon the amount of work your mother had under Social Security coverage. If she was fully insured at the time she died and medical records prove you were totally disabled prior to age 18, then you would probably qualify on her record. For additional information contact your social security office located at 1320 E. Franklin, Gastonia.

What Quality Beef Does A&P Sell?

That's a fair question. But not an easy one to answer because we have our own quality standards, different from any other meat merchant.

These standards don't fit exactly the familiar terms you know for grades of meat. As an example, did you know that some beef, graded U.S. Choice, just doesn't meet your "Super-Right" specifications? It's true! You see... we don't buy by grade. We use our own high standards to bring you the best values.

That doesn't mean we don't approve of such grading — not at all. It just means we're very fussy about the beef we label "Super-Right." It stands to reason we have to be or A&P wouldn't be America's number one meat merchant.
