EDITOR'S NOTE: Below are authoritative answers by the Veterans Administration to some of the many current questions from former servicemen and their families. Further information on veterans benefits may be obtained at any VA office.

Q—My husband, a World War II veteran, died in 1958. We did not have any children. My application for a widow's pension was denied at that time because I had only been married for three years to my husband. I am now unable to work because of a disability. Will this be a consideration if I should reapply for a pension?

A—In itself your disability would not be a consideration. However, a law passed in 1967 liberalized the five-year marriage requirement in effect at the time of your husband's death. Now a widow needs to have been married to the veteran only one year before his death to meet this pension eligibility requirement. For information and assistance in reapplying for a pension, contact your nearest VA regional office.

Q—I am receiving a pension for my nonservice-connected disabilities. When is the deadline for returning my income questionnaire from the Veterans Administration?

A—The deadline is Jan. 15, 1969.

Q—What is the limit on the amount of a guaranteed home loan a veteran can obtain from a lending institution, and what is the maximum length of time allowed to repay this type of loan?

A—The VA has no limit on the amount which may be borrowed with a guaranteed loan. However, there is a limitation on the amount of the VA guaranty to the lender. The guaranty cannot be more than 60 per cent of the loan and in no event can it exceed $12,500. GI home loan mortgages may run up to 30 years.

Exercise regularly but moderately, states the North Carolina Heart Association. The body is an engine and suffers from lack of use. Exercise is important.

Southern Bell
Helped Support
Appollo 8 Mission

Nineteen minutes after astronauts Borman, Lovell and Anders climbed into Apollo 8 on December 21st at Cape Kennedy, the nationwide communications network of the Bell System supporting the Apollo mission went on alert status said R. B. Moore telephone manager.

Half a million miles of Bell System circuits, alive and pulsing with activity, went into condition blue to back up the U. S.

mission to the moon. For the first seven hours, Bell technicians kept careful watch over the enormous amount of telephone company equipment through which these circuits pass. Curiously, the half million miles of Bell System communications paths supporting NASA's mission add up to almost exactly the distance the Apollo astronauts will travel in their trip to the moon and back.

Bell System facilities are delivering the astronauts' voices, billions of bits of computer language and television scenes from space to NASA's manned spaceflight center at Houston, Texas. The moon-bound voices and computer talk from Houston control travel the same paths.
