Herald Sports

WINSTON-SALEM — Wake Forest's Deacons have surprised some folks with their current 9-2 record, which includes a 3-1 ACC log, but their next four outings prior to the semester exam break puts them squarely on the spot.

The next four foes are Duke, N. C. State, Davidson and North Carolina in that order. "Any team able to win those four would certainly deserve to be ranked among the nation's best," quipped Coach Jack McCloskey.

The action begins here Wednesday night in Memorial Coliseum against Duke, and continues Saturday afternoon against N. C. State in a TV game at Raleigh. Next week the Deacs go against Davidson at Charlotte Wednesday night, and battle North Carolina here Saturday afternoon in another TV scrap.

"This four-game stretch will certainly prove something," McCloskey added, "and we are ready for the challenge. We had two good performances last week in Greensboro with wins over Maryland and Virginia, and we hope to continue the streak."

The game with Duke will be the second of the season, but this one counts in the ACC race. The first meeting at Greensboro on Dec. 20, which the Deacs won by a convincing 106-78 count, was not a league encounter.

"We don't expect to have as easy a time as we had at Greensboro," the Deacon coach added, "Duke showed by winning the Sugar Bowl tourney that it is capable of beating the best."

In the first meeting, soph Gilbert McGregor had his best performance of the season. He tossed in 30 points and raked off 17 rebounds. Charles Davis, the club's top scorer at 21.9, had 26 points against the Blue Devils as 11 of the 12 Deacs who saw action in the game broke into the scoring column.

The Deacs showed a lot of good things in sweeping the two loop wins at Greensboro last week. Against Virginia they played solid basketball, both offensively and defensively, in running up a 41-19 halftime lead.

"We are always striving for that super-human effort," McCloskey said. "The entire squad played exceptionally good basketball in the games last week, and if we get the same type of performances in the next four contests we could surprise a great many more people."

Wake Forest's freshmen, returning after a three-week layoff, meet two Big Four rivals, Duke and N. C. State, this week. They take on the Blue Imps here Wednesday night and travel to Raleigh to play the Wolflets in an afternoon contest Saturday.

Coach Neil Johnston has been pleased with his squad's performance thus far this season. The Baby Deacons are 4-1, losing only to powerful Gardner-Webb by 89-62.

"We got off to a fine start in December," said Johnston, "but now we are starting another season since we haven't played since Dec. 14. We have had a couple of good workouts since returning from the Christmas break."

Johnston has been impressed with the play of guard John Lewkowicz, who leads the scoring with a fine 22.2 average.

"John has done better than expected," said Johnston. "We knew he could drive well, but he has proved to be a better shooter than we once thought." Lewkowicz has hit on 47 of 93 field goals for a .505 average. He also leads in free throw accuracy, having hit on 17 of 20 tries.

The Baby Deacon coach has also been impressed by the consistent performances of center John Orenczak and forward Rich Habegger. Orenczak has a 17.4 scoring average, and leads the team in rebounding with a 12.2 figure. Habegger is right behind him in both categories with a 17.2 scoring average and a 12.0 rebound mark.

The other starters are Bob Hook, who has a 9.6 scoring figure, and Stan Zadrozny, who has an 8.2 average.

The games this week are the first against ACC freshman competition, and Johnston is anxious to see how his talent shapes up with the others in the league. "We know there is some fine talent among the other schools, but we feel our players will give a good account of themselves."

Mounties Play At Chase Friday Night

Hussey's Boys Try To Break Losing Streak

Kings Mountain's Mountaineers will travel to Chase Friday night in hopes of breaking a two-game losing streak and possibly moving up the Southwestern Conference standings.

Following their 83-78 loss to Burns Tuesday night, Coach Bob Hussey's charges are now 3-2 in conference play and tied for fifth place with Belmont.

Kings Mountain carries a 4-3 overall record into the contest and the main thing Coach Hussey will be trying to get his boys to do will be control of their personal fouls.

The Mountaineers committed 32 personals against Burns and five players — including four starters — fouled out. It marked the second straight time the Mountaineers had been beaten at the free throw line.

Chase sports a 1-3 conference record but the Trojans played league-leading Cherryville its closest game to date. The Trojans, in fact, led Cherryville by seven points after going into the fourth quarter before the Ironmen finally caught fire and squeezed out a 65-64 decision.

The Trojans, who haven't defeated the Mountaineers in over two years, are led offensively by football star Gary Cobb and Greg Price. Footballers Ronnie Winn and Elmer Macopson are also on the starting unit.

The Chase girls, usually the powerhouse of the Southwestern Conference, have taken their licks so far. The Trojanettes, missing three-time All-Conference star Nancy Tate, are 0-4 in conference play and 0-6 overall.

The Mountaineers of Blaine Fronberger, led by Linda Childers and Vickie Turner, have come on strong and now sport a 3-2 conference record, good enough for fourth place. The Mountaineettes have won three straight, and all in impressive fashion.

The girls game Friday will get underway at 7 p.m. with the boys contest following around 8:15. Kings Mountain has an open date Tuesday but plays host to county-rival Shelby next Friday night.

"We got off to a fine start in December," said Johnston, "but now we are starting another season since we haven't played since Dec. 14. We have had a couple of good workouts since returning from the Christmas break."

Johnston has been impressed with the play of guard John Lewkowicz, who leads the scoring with a fine 22.2 average.

"John has done better than expected," said Johnston. "We knew he could drive well, but he has proved to be a better shooter than we once thought." Lewkowicz has hit on 47 of 93 field goals for a .505 average. He also leads in free throw accuracy, having hit on 17 of 20 tries.

The Baby Deacon coach has also been impressed by the consistent performances of center John Orenczak and forward Rich Habegger. Orenczak has a 17.4 scoring average, and leads the team in rebounding with a 12.2 figure. Habegger is right behind him in both categories with a 17.2 scoring average and a 12.0 rebound mark.

The other starters are Bob Hook, who has a 9.6 scoring figure, and Stan Zadrozny, who has an 8.2 average.

The games this week are the first against ACC freshman competition, and Johnston is anxious to see how his talent shapes up with the others in the league. "We know there is some fine talent among the other schools, but we feel our players will give a good account of themselves."

Gardner-Webb's Mascot Is Dead

BOILING SPRINGS, N. C. — Victor, mascot of the Gardner-Webb College Bulldogs for nine years, died Sunday. The huge Bulldog which had been cared for by Bud McSwain, postmaster at Boiling Springs, for many years resigned over a dramatic period of the college's growing athletic program.

During the nine years, Victor saw two Region 10 football titles, four Western Carolinas Junior College football titles, three Western Carolinas Conference basketball titles, a Region 10 basketball title, four WCJCC basketball tournament titles, three WCJCC baseball titles, a Region 10 baseball title, and two teams entered into national playoffs, and two conference golf titles.

Ironically, his death comes at a time when the college is making a transition from junior to senior college athletics. His son, Victor II, will now take over the position. He also is being cared for by McSwain who does this as a service to the college and its athletic program.

Boys Charged With 32 Fouls In Second Loss

Kings Mountain's girls pulled the upset of the year here Tuesday night but the Mountaineettes committed 32 personal fouls and dropped their second straight Southwestern Conference tilt, 83-78 to Burns.

The Mountaineettes, sparked by seniors Linda Childers and Vickie Turner, upset the heretofore undefeated Lady Bulldogs 33-30 in the opener. The loss left Burns in a tie for second place with a 3-1 loop record and Kings Mountain in fourth spot with a 3-2 mark.

The Mountaineettes, gaining their third straight victory after three early losses, jumped ahead 6-2 after one period but the Lady Bulldogs came roaring back to take an 8-6 lead.

The score was tied at 10-all at halftime but the Mountaineettes built up a 10-point spread during the fourth quarter. However, in the final two minutes the Lady Bulldogs came from behind to pull within two points but the poised Mountaineettes held on.

Turner finished as the game's top scorer with 14 points as she hit consistently from either side of the key. Childers, who played an outstanding floor game, added 11 points. Burns was led by Hooper with 13 points.

In the boys game, scoring was nip and tuck during the first period but the Mountaineettes managed a two-point lead, 18-16, at the quarter. Three quick baskets by the locals during the final 30 seconds of the first half made it 40-35, at intermission.

But in the third period the fouls began to mount and by the end of the contest, five players, including four starters, had fouled out.

A technical foul was what turned out to be the "loser" for the Mountaineettes.

Midway of the fourth period, Mountaineer forward Ken Mitchem drew his fifth personal. Coach Bob Hussey replaced Mitchem with junior Jewel Watson, but a technical foul was called because Watson had already fouled out, although he nor the Mountaineer bench had been informed.

Nor was anyone informed when Mitchem, guard Alan Hambricht and a Burns player fouled out.

At any rate, big center Steve Peeler hit two foul shots on Mitchem's personal, then guard Arnold Cooke hit another on the technical. Burns then got the ball out of bounds and scored on the rebound play, making it five points, which turned out to be the difference in the final score.

"We're not making any excuses, nor are we saying Watson didn't have five fouls," commented Coach Hussey. "But, if he did have five fouls, he had been playing with that many all along."

"When we took Watson out of the game early in the third quarter, it was not after he had committed a foul, but during a time out. Our statistic sheet showed (Continued On Page Four)

Oates, Bob Herndon Win Bowling Titles

The local ladies and mixed bowling leagues have ended first half play. Oates Shell Service topped the ladies championship and Bob Herndon took the mixed title.

The men's league first half drew to a close last week with Plonk Oil Co. the winner.

Oates Shell finished first half play with a 40-28 record, a one-game lead over the American Legion. Bob Herndon had a 33-19 mark in the mixed league and a six-game lead over Richard Culbertson.

All four members of the Bob Herndon team topped the 300-set mark to clinch the championship in the mixed league with a four-game sweep of Randy Blanton's team.

Rod Houser and Herndon tied for line honors with 139s and Herndon had a 396 series. Houser had a 360 set. For the losers, Blanton rolled a 126 line and 352 set.

Richard Culbertson won three games off John Dilling, with Culbertson leading the way with a 122 line and 353 series. Dilling's 125 line and Jenny Oates' 322 set led the losers.

Albert Brackett's team has taken over an early lead in the men's second half race. Brackett's 160 line and 377 set led his club to a 3-1 win over Dilling Heating Monday night. Brackett's boys show a 6-2 record while three other teams are tied for second with 4-4 marks.

Duke Swimmers At Clemson, SC

DURHAM, N. C. — Duke's tank team ends a three-week Christmas break with a two-stop visit to the Palmetto State this first week of 1969.

Coach Jack Persons' swimmers are at Clemson Wednesday and then travel east to Columbia to face South Carolina on Thursday.

Adams Impressed With Trip To Internationals

David Adams, head instructor at Adams Karate Academy in Kings Mountain, was the only referee from the south to take part in the International Open Karate Championships Sunday in New York.

Adams refereed several matches during the morning and afternoon competition and also put on a demonstration during the afternoon.

Over 700 karate students, instructors, etc., took part in the championships. The grand champion was Louis Delgado of New York.

"When I went up there I was expecting to see something much better than my students," commented Adams. "But I was surprised. I feel like my students are just as good, if not better, and I'm certain that if they could have gone we could have won some awards, especially in the junior division."

Adams said most of the participants were from New York, New Jersey and Rhode Island.

"I talked to many instructors of all styles and learned a great deal," continued Adams. "It was a great honor for me to take part in the tournament."

"The most fantastic demonstration I saw was performed by Shigeru Oyama, who now lives in White Plains, N. Y. He did a karate chop through two feet of solid ice."

The tournament ran from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sunday. "I learned a lot from the trip," said Adams. "My only regret is that my students couldn't go with me."

Adams and 25 of his students will participate in the Southeastern Karate Championships in Atlanta, Ga., on March 27.

SIXTH MAN — Steve Gladden (above), who started early in the season for the Mountaineers, is now the team's sixth man and has filled that role well for Coach Bob Hussey's club this season. He'll be ready Friday when the Mounties travel to Chase and again next Friday night when the KM lads host arch-rival Shelby. (Photo by Isaac Alexander).
