Weekly Health Tip

By WILSON GRIFFIN

Have you ever heard of the care and exactness that goes into the feeding of a race horse—to bring him to maximum fitness, vigor, stamina and health? — or the diet care of a show dog to produce the perfect physical specimen with radiant health and sleek, glossy coat? Even in agriculture we carefully supply the proper nutrients to our livestock and our growing crops to produce the finest growth. But we humans too often neglect our own diet education and care — we eat what we like rather than what we need — and wonder why we are not in the best of health and condition. (More later.)

Most Income Must Be Reported Says Wall

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Income from all sources, unless specifically exempt by law, is subject to tax and must be reported on your 1968 Federal income tax return, said J. E. Wall, District Director of Internal Revenue for North Carolina.

Interest must be reported in the year it is credited to your account and you can draw it out, even though it may not be entered on passbooks until the following year. The same is true of interest on insurance dividends left on deposit with an insurance company.

Taxpayers may elect to report interest on Series E and F United States Savings Bonds each year. They may, however, defer reporting the interest until the bonds mature or are cashed in.

So-called dividends on deposits or shares of buildings and loan associations, savings and loan associations, credit unions, mutual and cooperative savings banks are taxed as interest income.

Wall said that the gross amount of dividends and other distributions must be listed on the return but the first $100 of dividends received is not generally subject to tax.

Interest on state and municipal obligations is exempt from tax except for some industrial bond issues.

Wall emphasized that the amount of interest received is not material. All interest received must be reported even though the payer does not issue a statement to depositors.

The instruction booklet received with the 1968 tax forms lists the items of income that should be reported, Wall said. A careful review of your records will help you report all income.

Publication 550, "Tax Information on Investment Income and Expenses," furnishes more detailed information on reporting interest income and may be obtained by sending a postal card to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, 320 S. Ashe Street, Greensboro, N. C. 27401.

Through its computer system, the Department of Motor Vehicles can review the driving record of any North Carolina motorist in a matter of seconds.
