Myron Floren In 21st Year With Welk Show

Of all the talented musicians and performers in the television-famed Lawrence Welk organization coming to Charlotte Coliseum on August 31, none is more in demand for personal appearances than quiet-mannered, fast-fingered Myron Floren, accordionist par excellence.
Now in his twenty-first year with the Champagne Music Maestro, Floren has travelled nearly 200,000 miles each year for the past ten years, playing special engagements in communities throughout the nation, returning each week in time to assume his job at Welk's right arm in the band administration department.
A native of Webster, South Dakota, Myron first took up the accordion at age 7. With the gift of talent and long hours of practice replacing formal instruction, he was entertaining crowds and winning prizes before he was 10.
He worked his way through Augustana College in Sioux Falls, South Dakota, teaching the accordion, and he began to play professionally at age 19, over radio station KSOO in that city. He also played for numerous parties and dances, and in 1944 joined a USO unit to entertain troops in Europe. Upon his return, he joined a music group called "The Buckeye Four," remaining until he accepted Welk's invitation to join him.
Myron's favorite music is the polka although he enjoys all types and is equally adept in playing every kind from classical to pop rhythm music. He has written numerous compositions and has published a series of accordion instruction books which enjoy wide popularity. He now records albums regularly for Ramwood Records, as well as filling his great demand for personal appearances.
Myron and his wife, whom he met while she was a pupil of his studying the accordion, live with their five lovely daughters in Rolling Hills, a suburb of Los Angeles overlooking the Pacific Ocean.
In addition to Myron Floren, Welk will be bringing such nationwide favorites as Bobby Burgess and Cissy King, Arthur Duncan, Guy Hovis, Raina English, Sandi and Sall, Jim Roberts and, of course, the bubbly

There is a man in our church. Whos so very dear to us; To everyone who loves him, He's dear ol' Uncle Gus.

I guess he's in his 80's now, And he's getting somewhat feeble; But when he stands to testify, Oh, How he thrills the people. He's always been quite dear to me, He's won my every trust; He's meant so much in every way, This saint named Uncle Gus.

He has a wife who's dear to me, She's the perfect kind of wife; She's a staff for him to lean upon, machine. Tickets to the Lawrence Welk show are now on sale at the Coliseum Box Office.

In times of trouble and strife, Our church won't be the same, Without ol' Uncle Gus; But we'll have to remember the simple fact, Ol' how long he'd been with us, For God will find a better place For our dear, saintly friend; Because he has been good and true, And faithful to the end. And when death claims this man's soul, The angels will rejoice; For the heavenly choir will be blessed, By this saint's sweet voice. And may his children remember that, Which he prayed most every night; That they should soon be saved and kept, And walk in God's true light.
