Women recently won another legal battle for equal pay. A U. S. District Court in Pennsylvania ruled that Food Fair Stores, Inc. must pay women and men cashiers the same rate under the Federal Equal Pay Act. The court said that while male cashiers had different titles than their female counterparts, their duties were substantially equal. It was the first equal pay decision involving a retail food supermarket.

Weekly Health Tip

By WILSON GRIFFIN

Now that the home heating season begins, parents should instruct the children on emergency action in case of fire. How to escape from various rooms if the hallways are blocked is important. Some parents install a knotted rope which can be hung out a second story window for escape. Even small children should be taught to dial "0" for help in any emergency, and to give their correct address.

After you see your doctor bring your prescription to
