

Letter To The Editor

Some people are suggesting that the 74 by-pass be located at the present proposed route. All I am going to tell you is that this route is going to cost me. It will curve around my home making inaccessible the greater part of my farming fields which means my business will be sacrificed. That is not all. I have have my

YOUR BODY CAN'T START OVER

There is an old saying that from the moment you are born you start dying and while this may be somewhat extreme, it is essentially a truthful statement of fact. But, it is also true that when you take care of your health you can slow up even though you can't stop the process.

Taking care of our bodies can be done in many ways. A good diet, a proper amount of exercise, regular habits, the right amount of rest and sleep, and most important, a family physician who you regularly consult for a check-up to see how you are doing. When you do, you put the odds on your side for a longer healthier life.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

life's savings invested here in farm machinery, farm buildings and soil enrichment. All of this will be practically useless if I can't farm.

That is not all. I had already planned to sell building lots to sustain me in retirement. This will be another loss incurred by the proposed by-pass.

In short, I will be sacrificing my occupation, my life's savings and my retirement security. I am too old to start building anew.

The fact that the by-pass is needed is not the question. That has been stated so many times for so long. The question is what route will hurt the fewest people the least amount and be the cheapest to build? This route is neither of these.

Maneuvers were made to block a former survey west of town which was made and announced and, to my knowledge, scarcely contested at the hearing. Those instrumental in relocating this route farther north have not come forth with offers of land.

Members of my family have made such an offer. They have stated publicly that the first survey by-pass might cross their property without complaints resulting.

Someone may venture an answer to this letter. If he does, I will first say that he is sacrificing everything as I am expected to do. Otherwise, his reply will carry little weight.

Subject: Behind Meany's war with the President.

They're natural enemies—the cigar smoking-chomping Meany and the cool polished Nixon—and their battle had been in the cards all along. At stake is your job, your pay, your way of life—and you'll soon have to pick your side.

Quote: "Truth is tough; it will not break, like a bubble, at a touch; nay, you may kick it about all day like a football—and it will be round and full at evening." Oliver Wendell Holmes. End quote.

Yes! It's going to prove most interesting the following months ahead. As these two begin to lock horns. They have each other's measure. They know the stakes are big. The stakes are you and you and the White House and a philosophy of government and now even foreign policy and labor strength; and strikes and anti-strike laws and price controls and all the things that get into the mix.

These two men are battling over a way of life—your life, your job, your wages. And in the coming months you'll be asked again and again to pick your side. Actually, then this is a showdown between two forces.

KINSHIP

Conversation on the subject of who is related to whom often bogs down over terminology. The purpose of the column this week is to assist you in identifying by label those who are kin to you.

Who is your second cousin? Everybody, of course, knows whom to call a first cousin. He is your parent's brother's (or sister's) child.

Your first cousin's child is not your second cousin, as is so often thought to be the case. Your first cousin's child is your first cousin once removed.

The child of the first cousin once removed is your first cousin twice removed, and this person's child is your first cousin three times removed.

Your second cousin is your grandparent's brother's (or sister's) grandchild. That second cousin's child is your second cousin once removed, his child your second cousin twice removed, and so on.

Or stated differently, your second cousin is the grandchild of your great-uncle or great-aunt. Or stated still differently, the person your parent calls a first cousin once removed is your second cousin.

Who is your grandnephew or grandniece? He or she is the grandchild of your brother or sister. This is, of course, the same as saying he or she is the child of your nephew or niece.

Who are your double first cousins?

If two brothers marry sisters, the children of these two marriages would be double first cousins. The same result would be reached if a brother and a sister should marry the opposite sexes of a brother and sister in another family.

North Carolina forbids the marriage of double first cousins though otherwise the marriage of first cousins is permitted.

Who is a foster child? A child raised like one's own child, though not such by birth or formal adoption.

Who is a posthumous child? He is a child born after the death of his father.

Who is a legitimated child? He is a child who was born out of wedlock but who has subsequently become legitimated.

This may be accomplished in North Carolina through any one of three methods: (1) by a formal adoption proceeding; (2) by a petition of the putative father; and (3) by a subsequent marriage of the mother and father.

The Veterans Corner

Editor's Note: Below are authoritative answers by the Veterans Administration to some of the many current questions from former servicemen and their families. Further information on veterans benefits may be obtained at any VA office or your local veterans service organization representative.

Q.—Is the Veterans Administration deeply involved in medical research?

A.—Yes... nearly 6,000 research projects are under way in VA hospitals and private clinics. It has paved the way for the successful treatment of tuberculosis, developed use of the Pacer for heart victims, and played a key role in medical breakthroughs such as the first successful kidney transplants, laser cane for the blind, cobalt treatment of cancer, and use of psychotropic drugs that have revolutionized mental health care.

Q.—I receive 30 per cent disability from the Veterans Administration. I will soon be 65 and retired. Can I waive my disability compensation and come under the VA pension program?

A.—Yes. Suggest you make application for pension. VA will pay you the higher amount if you are eligible for two benefits.

Q.—I have a large dividend accumulation on deposit with VA on my insurance. May I withdraw a part of it?

A.—You may withdraw all or any part of accumulated dividends.

Q.—Can a veteran pursue any educational program he desires?

A.—Yes, if the course or program given leads to a recognized educational, vocational, or professional objective, and if the school and course are approved by the state approving agency.

The Manpower Administration is giving another $3 million to the Opportunities Industrialization Centers (OIC). This money will help about 3,500 more disadvantaged people to prepare for and find jobs.

Bill Adair is a fisheries biologist.

He works for you.

Bill's main job is to make certain that fish in Duke Power's lakes are not harmed by the luke-warm water discharge from our steam electric generating stations.

The stations are designed so that the maximum temperature of discharged water is about the temperature of the human body. And this heat radiates rapidly to the atmosphere.

To check on the design and operations of the stations, we continually monitor temperatures and make biological studies of the water in our lakes.

So you'll find good fishing on Duke Power's lakes. Some of the best, in fact, is near our stations. And our scientists—like Bill Adair—are working closely with governmental and independent scientists to keep it that way.

It's just one of the many things we're doing to make this a better place to live.
