A study at Harvard Univ. School of Public Health showed that among women with good-to-excellent prenatal diets, 95% of their babies were born with out complications in good-to-excellent condition. Among the results were almost exactly reversed. Disorders such as miscarriage, premature birth and stillbirth were found related to faulty prenatal diet. Prospective mothers should realize that proper nutrition has a pre-eminent role in the success of childbearing. It is the quality of the food — vitamins and minerals — not the quantity that is important.
