

Spangler And Froelich Are Co-Managers

RALEIGH. — Hargrave "Skipper" Bowles, Democratic candidate for governor, announced on Monday the appointment of the two top persons in his campaign structure.

Jake Froelich, High Point, and Pat Spangler, Shelby, will serve as co-managers of the campaign.

Bowles told a Raleigh news conference that further campaign positions will be announced on January 10.

Froelich is president of two firms involved in the manufacturing and sale of furniture wood products. He is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Consolidated University and is one of 16 persons recently elected by the trustees to the newly-formed board of governor.

He has been associated for many years with the United Fund movement and has served as president of both the High Point and statewide United Funds—serving as both president and chairman of the board of Carolina's United—and has been an executive member of the national United Fund budget committee. Froelich currently is a member of the North Carolina

Council on Crime and Delinquency and now serves as a member of that committee.

Froelich, a former chairman of the Guilford county Democratic executive committee, served on the High Point city council. He is now a member of the State Democratic executive committee. In 1968 he was a delegate to the Democratic National convention in Chicago.

Froelich served as a lieutenant in the United States Air Force.

He is an active Episcopal layman, now serving on the Diocesan Council and its finance committee. He is married to the former Mary Ragedale Stickland of High Point and has three children: Molly 14, Henry 12, and Sam, 6.

Spangler is an officer in several concrete and paving firms in Western North Carolina including Spangler & Sons in Shelby.

He is a graduate of Shelby high school and the Anderson Aircraft School in Nashville, Tennessee.

Spangler received the Distinguished Citizens Award from Governor Robert Scott in May, 1971, for his support of private higher education by raising more than $5,000,000 for Gardner-Webb college where Spangler serves as chairman of the board of trustees. A dormitory was named in his honor at that institution. He is on the board of visitors at Peace College in Raleigh.

Whisnant Is Hunt's Chairman

Wilson, N. C. — Jim Hunt, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, today announced the appointment of Lawndale Mayor Durham Whisnant, as his campaign chairman for Cleveland County.

"I feel quite fortunate to have a man with the experience, knowledge, and ability that Durham is bringing with him into the campaign," Hunt said. "Not only does he have an instinctive feeling for the needs of the people in his area, but a sincere desire to bring about positive changes for the entire state."

Whisnant served as Mayor of Lawndale for twenty years. A cattle farmer, he has been active in politics for 45 years.

He is a member of the Cleveland County Farm Bureau, past president of the Lions Club, and a minister of the Free Saints Church.

He spent eight years with the State highway Commission and was a supervisor at Cleveland Mills for twenty years.

Married to the former Sue Weston of Cleveland County, Whisnant has three children and five grandchildren.

Medicare payments will be made directly to hospitals.

Homemakers who like to use candles in their decorating can easily make their own candleholders.

For example, one Vance county homemaker took the plastic tops from aerosol cans, sanded them lightly so they could be painted and then sprayed them in decorator colors.

You can anchor candles in these homemade holders the same way you do in store-bought ones, the homemaker explained to Mrs. Carolyn Stanley, assistant home economics extension agent.

"Similar holders can be made with small cans, such as those canned seafood or chicken come in," Mrs. Stanley added.

HOMEMADE STORAGE

No storage or not enough storage is a big problem for low-income families in Wayne county.
