Junior Deputy Leaders Sought

Today Sheriff J. Hayward Allen made a request that interested adult citizens of this County volunteer their time and energy to help in one of the greatest programs we have going to help the youth of our County—the Junior Deputy Program.

This is a program which has been in progress now for about two years, working with and helping the youth of our community. This program teaches citizenship and responsibility. It allows the youth of our community to become familiar with how our government works.

One of the most vital parts of our program is rap sessions between the youth and law enforcement, judges, governing officials, etc. asking questions and discussing pertinent issues.

We have a total of nineteen groups in Cleveland County and we especially need adults in Grover and 18 North near McSwains Store. We must have a minimum of three adult leaders for each group of twenty-five boys and we need adults county-wide.

Region-Wide Honda has donated over 100 Honda Mini Trail bikes to us in this program.

These youth are seeking help and guidance from our community leaders, and we desperately need your help immediately. Sheriff Allen asks you to call him and volunteer for the most rewarding experience you will ever have—helping boys.

Every boy we save today will make a good citizen tomorrow.

This is another program coordinated through Region C Criminal Justice Planning Agency. Please contact the Sheriff today at 487-4337.

Farm-Safety Week Underway

July 25-31 is a Farm Safety Week. This is a week of National efforts aimed at reducing accidents in agriculture. According to the National Safety Council, agriculture is the third most dangerous industry. Everyone should do his part in preventing needless loss of life, painful injuries, and great economic loss to the agricultural economy. Recent changes in pesticide regulations by EPA in order to protect the environment have increased the danger to humans, especially in handling and applying many of the approved chemicals.

H. W. Dameron, Cleveland County Extension chairman, says that respirators are becoming as important to the safety of farmers as brakes on a car.

"When you consider the types of chemicals that farmers are using these days, you'll understand why respirators are important," Dameron added.

"Back when we were using mostly DDT, farmers didn't have to worry much. But most of the newer chemicals are extremely poisonous to humans. People should take every precaution to keep the dust, mist and fumes out of their lungs."

Dameron explained that there were several types of respirators available. The simplest type is the dust filter mask—like surgeons wear.

The dust filter mask is recommended when a person is cleaning out a poultry house, running a combine, plowing a dusty field or doing similar things. But a simple mask will not screen out poisonous chemicals, Dameron stressed.

"When using pesticides, especially the organic phosphates and chlorinated hydrocarbons, use a cartridge type respirator that contains activated charcoal or some other type absorbent material.

"A dust filter mask is simply not adequate when applying pesticides," Dameron continued. "And we are using more and more of them."

He is a 1972 graduate of Kings Mountain high school.

ACCENT ON AGRICULTURE

BEEF PRICE
 Rising retail meat prices made front-page news earlier this year. During April, a decline in the retail price of beef and pork seemed to calm the public furor, but no one wrote stories about the decline.

The highly toxic pesticides, such as parathion on tobacco and methyl parathion on cotton."

Dameron explained that other types of respirators are available. There is the canister type, which is really a gas mask. There are also supplied air respirators and self-contained breathing apparatuses. These latter types are used mostly where oxygen is not available, as is often the case in silos.

The cartridge type respirator is considered adequate for use when applying most chemicals. Besides, it is not as hot to wear as a gas mask type which covers the entire face.

Dameron issued one other warning about respirators. "Make sure you change the filters. They get stopped up and the absorbent material becomes neutralized. Insert a fresh filter at least at the beginning of each season."

One national magazine even went so far as to feature an article about an urban family with a high five-figure income with two cars, swimming pool, etc., but were having to start buying cheaper meats or buy meat substitutes!

When the Price Commission investigated beef prices, the real facts came to light. Farmers and ranchers had nothing to hide. They were finally receiving the same price for beef on the hoof they did twenty years ago.

Beef price is basically determined by consumer demand. If demand surges upward, the price of beef will climb. If demand falls off, beef prices will drop.

The desire for beef on our tables has been increasing. In fact, in the last 20 years, annual beef consumption per person in this country has doubled from 56 pounds per person to 115 pounds today.

Several factors are responsible for the increase. According to Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, "Rising real wages have had a marked effect upon buying habits. People want beef and, as they have enjoyed more and more real wages, they have been buying more and more beef and better quality beef, too. This is by far the greatest single factor in increasing beef consumption."

Butz also pointed out that the substantial increase in the Food Stamp Program has played a major role in meat prices. "In April of 1972, 11.5 million people were participating in the Food Stamp Program. One of the first items purchased with added dollars in the food budget by consumers eligible for Food Stamps is meat, preferably beef," according to Butz.

Marine Sgt. Dennis Rayfield, husband of the former Miss Frances L. Smith of Route 2, Bethlehem Community, Kings Mountain, N. C., is training with the summer U. S. Marine Corps Rifle Team at the Marine Corps Base, Quantico, Va.

His team will be competing against the top civilian and military rifle shooters at the National Rifle and Pistol Competition at Camp Perry, Ohio in August.

Nazarenes Set Annual Assembly

A delegation of Nazarene church members from this community and area will take part in the annual North Carolina district assembly at First Church of the Nazarene in Asheville, Tuesday through Thursday, August 22-24.

Reports will be made by pastors of 49 churches on the district. The Rev. T. C. (Jack) Sanders, Jr., Charlotte, will give his annual review as district superintendent.

The presiding official will be Dr. Edward Lawlor, Kansas City, Mo., who was re-elected to a second 4-year term as a general superintendent at the general assembly in June at Miami Beach. He was elected first to the highest office in 1968.

The Church of the Nazarene is the largest denomination that stands on scriptural holiness in the Wesleyan tradition. During 1971, the church passed the half-million mark in world membership.
