ANOTHER KIND OF ADDICTION
 Drug addiction is a continuing worldwide concern. Its destructive effect on individuals and families is well documented. What is another kind of addiction which is also destructive to individuals and families and that is "Alcoholism" which is becoming a worldwide tragedy. Alcoholism among youths is a growing, worldwide problem. Let's look at the World Fact Sheet in general. Please!

England: Dr. Max Gatt, vice-chairman of the medical council of alcoholism and consultant psychiatrist at London's largest hospital unit, points out that convictions for drunkenness against people under 21 have risen from 6,700 in 1953 to 12,000 in 1963. If drunkenness has more than doubled in 10 years, it is implied that such has also significantly increased.

Scotland: The problem among teenage Scots is reported in "Chronic Projections" by authorities. "There has been a tremendous explosion of heavy drinking among youngsters" he added. As quoted by Dr. John Gray, director of Glasgow Council on Alcoholism.

Poland: A Warsaw study in 1971 reported that the problem is a more serious threat to adolescents than it is to adults, as young people have a greater sensitivity to alcohol and they have a greater portion of their lives to lose. So their method is through setting up youth clubs through Alcoholics Anonymous as a way of reaching the young, of which youth clubs throughout the country, of which there are 12,000 such clubs of which have a half million members.

France: In France the problem annually claims 35,000 lives and is the third leading cause of death. It is responsible for 30 per cent of the traffic accidents in Paris, reported Le Figaro, and many of these are caused by young people. As one French alcoholic said "His parents died when he was three and he was reared by an aunt who owned a job. I was just gutted with wine; my aunt got drunk on white wine and I got stoned for the first time at age 12."

Germany: A Munich magazine has pointed to the large percentage of youths among the 600,000 problem drinkers in West Germany. The medical journal mentioned that about 50,000 West German youths—many of them not yet 17 years old—are alcohol addicts and the number is rising.

Mexico: Alcoholics Anonymous in Mexico claims that perhaps one out of five Mexican adults has a problem with alcohol. Just how many of these are youths was not reported. Thirty per cent of all deaths in Mexico are attributed in part to alcoholism.

Hungary: The significance of alcoholism and family conflicts as a cause of suicides has doubled since before World War II. Hungary has one of the world's highest suicide rates, as well as one of the world's highest divorce rates and a serious problem with problem drinkers among its youth.

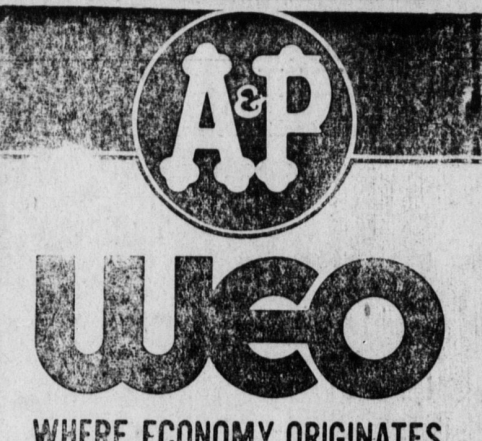

Spain: Every morning thousands of Spanish men line up at bars and cafes for coffee and slugs of brandy, anise and gin. An estimated two million Spaniards are alcoholics.

Russia: The Soviet Union has admitted a serious problem with problem drinkers among its working force and has launched a determined effort to curtail the problem. But alcoholism shows no signs of diminishing.

Closing paragraph: A nation's strength lies within the framework of the embedment of its character or its person characteristics.

God bless America!
