

MORE ABOUT McCARTER

"something old" she wore an antique heirloom gold chain which belonged to her great-great-grandmother of the Early Virginia settlers.

Miss Mary Susan McCarter of Grover and Winston - Salem attended her sister as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Taffy Harry of Grover, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Dolores Rogers of Reidsville. Robin Gaudin niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

All the attendants wore floor length gowns of daisy-embossed organdy, the maid of honor in green, the two bridesmaids in pink and lavender and the flower girl in blue. Their matching hats had imported horsehair rippled brims tied with ribbons matching their dresses and they carried tinted bouquets of daisy mums matching their gowns.

Ronald Carter of Ruffin was his cousin's best man and ushers were the bridegroom's brother-in-law, James Hundley of Ruffin, Richard Maxwell of Greenville and Ronald Queen of Grover.

Ringbearer was Hunter Gaudin, nephew of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother was gown in a floor-length dress of aqua crepe with lace jacket. She wore a pearl clip in her hair and at her shoulder was a pink cymbidium orchid.

The bridegroom's mother chose a formal long-sleeved gown of lavender lace and wore a gold clip in her hair. She also chose a pink cymbidium orchid to add to her ensemble.

Mrs. B. A. Harry of Grover, grandmother of the bride, directed the wedding. The bride honored her with a green cymbidium orchid which she pinned to the shoulder of her dress.

The bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Goforth entertained after the ceremony at a beautifully-appointed reception in the King's Room of Royal Villa in Kings Mountain.

The five-tier candlelight bride's cake enhanced by ivory bridesmaid columns and covered with ivory grapes and pale yellow roses was highlight of the bride's table, highlight of decoration. The table was draped with lace over yellow taffeta and garlanded with greenery.

The wedding colors of yellow and ivory were featured in decoration and refreshments.

Overlaid with imported lace over yellow taffeta, the refreshment table was centered with a five-branch silver candelabra set with yellow and pink snapdragons, yellow mums, pink carnations, white pompons and baby's breath. On either end of the table was a silver punch bowl from which punch was served. Silver trays held an assortment of party sandwiches, sausage balls, cheese wafers, mints, strawberries and petit-fours.

Other arrangements featured a chub, iridescent grapes, spring flowers, and garlands of greenery and palms.

The bride and bridegroom toasted each other from engraved silver goblets, their gift from the bride's grandmother, Mrs. B. A. Harry of Grover.

O'Leary White of Grover was at the piano to play music during the reception.

Greeting guests were Mrs. Donald Woods of Greenville, S. C. and Mrs. James Hundley of Ruffin. Mr. and Mrs. Tim Lull and Scott of Shelby were at the register. The bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Goforth of Grover headed the receiving line and introduced members of the bridal party. Assisting in detail of entertaining were Mrs. Phil Harry, Mrs. Norma B. Harr, Mrs. B. M. Gold, all of Grover; Mrs. T. H. Harry Jr. of Blackburg, S. C.; Mrs. Philli; Frasc; Mrs. Wayne Appling, Mrs. Debb Francis, Miss Jan Goforth, Miss 'Ammy Appling, all of Grover; and Miss Terri Woods of Greenville, S. C.

For a wedding trip Mrs. Gaudin chose a navy blue and white reple long-sleeved dress with matching cape and accessories; and the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

MORE ABOUT Radford Sisters

"Doyle Wilbur. Present the Carolina Chaparrels" is the title of an album by a group from Anderson, S. C. who range in age from 8 to 14 years. The Carolina Chaparrels have appeared on shows throughout the south and received a standing ovation on the Grand Ole Opry. These youngsters are all talented musicians in their own rights and have played back-up for the Wilburn Brothers, Peggy Sue and Sonny Wright, Murray Kellum and have shared the spotlight with such greats as Loretta Lynn.

The Bluegrass Tarheels have impressed people with their ability and desire to do the older Bill Monroe numbers as they played the Bluegrass Festival circuit. In fact, while talking with their idol, Bill Monroe, he gave the group their current name "The Bluegrass Tarheels."

Fans attending the show will have the opportunity to meet all the performers and to buy their pictures and records at an autograph booth that will be set up at the show. Several handicapped youngsters from Rutherford county who have received aid from the Blue Ridge Easter Seal Society will also be attending the show.

The programs and services of the Easter Seal Society are wide-ranging. The Easter Seal Society spearheads an intensive campaign to eliminate architectural barriers and to make all public facilities fully accessible to the handicapped. The Easter Seal Society supports research projects at hospitals and universities across the nation. In these programs, many scientists seek solutions to a number of specific problems and secondary prevention of birth defects. The Easter Seal Society has made rehabilitation a meaningful word for handicapped men and women who seek to complete this rehabilitation by helping the handicapped person to become gainfully employed. Camping, the favorite summertime vacation for hundreds of thousands of boys and girls, is also a special treat for handicapped youngsters. This is a service of your Easter Seal Society. In North Carolina, the Society operates Camp Easter in the Pines at South Pines.

Mrs. Nanney stressed that the purchase of a ticket to the country music show not only assures you of seeing an excellent show on Friday, April 20th, but is also a contribution to the work of the Easter Seal Society. Advance tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12. Adult tickets will be $2.50 at the door.

MENTAL HEALTH NEWS

MOTHEHR LOSS

What are the specific impacts of abruptly separating a newborn infant from his mother soon after he has established a close relationship with her?

These are very difficult questions, yet research must try to find answers to them—and one method is by studying animals as models for human phenomena. Such studies can bring us information useful in understanding, far better than we do now, what can and does happen in situations.

Scientists at New York's Montefiore Hospital and Medical Center are exploring such issues and questions in animal studies now under way through grants support from the National Institute of Mental Health.

By understanding how removal of an animal from its mother may affect such factors as heart rate, sleep patterns, and chemical functions in the body, they hope to learn more about the role the human mother plays in the development of her child.

It is known that mother loss can cause changes in appearance, posture, sleep, and behavior of infants. But two factors must be systematically explored: What are the physiological processes underlying these changes? What factors aid in recovery in some cases but do not prevent prolonged illness and depression in others?

The study is seeking to get at these factors, conducting research with animals during the early period of separation from the mother during the time of adaptation or recovery from the loss, and in adulthood.

Hopefully, the animals study may suggest ways and means of reversing or preventing responses to biological processes which lead to increased risk of illness—
