PISTOL COMBAT — Kings Mountain and area law enforcement officers engaged in Combat Pistol Match Wednesday at the KMPD pistol range. Two officers are shown here blasting away at targets. The matches, which included individual and team competition, were to conclude late Wednesday afternoon with the winners competing against Al Arrington, an employe of National Police Supply of Charlotte, who has won two national and 10 state championships.

Mayor To Host Final Planning Meet On Lot

Mayor John H. Moss has scheduled a meeting with the representatives of the various construction and engineering firms contracted in connection with the municipal parking lot off S. Cherokee St.

The meeting, set for 10 a. m. next Tuesday morning in the mayor's office, will be to review progress in the lot construction and to pinpoint the schedule for the final phase of construction.

"We are still within the time frame as far as completing construction on the lot," Mayor Moss said. "This meeting will be to confirm the schedule." The mayor said dedication and public use is tentatively set for Fri., Oct. 1, 1976.

Representatives slated to attend Tuesday's meeting are from Fox and Ritter and Southeastern Electrical Engineering, the two engineering consultants, and the construction firms of Burnup and Sims, Bradley-Jenkins and Custom Paving Co.

The mayor is in Atlanta today attending a seminar on the Public Works Act of 1976. The seminar is sponsored by the National League of Cities and will feature panelists from the U. S. Department of Commerce, to cover federal regulations under the act, and from the office of Economic Development Administration to cover technical resources.

The seminar is to assist cities and towns in applying for $3.26 billion in public works and matching grants and to give information on an additional $700 million funding program covering water pollution prevention and construction.

On Mon., Oct. 18 Mayor Moss will speak in Charlotte at a League of Municipalities sponsored workshop for small towns (5,000 and under). The mayor will speak on management and technical assistance programs and direction on applying for such assistance.

Operation ID Set For This Weekend

Over 400 personal items were engraved for citizens during the August 28 and 29 Operation Identification coffee break held at West Gate Plaza Shopping Center.

The two-day operation ID project was sponsored by Citizens on Patrol and Emergency (COPE).

Sam Teseniar, president of COPE, said numerous citizens took advantage of the ID program and many others requested members of COPE to come to their homes and businesses to engrave personal property against theft.

This service will continue and anyone interested in having personal property marked and listed for fast identification should contact the following COPE members: Teseniar, Danny Wilson, Peggy Sanders, Kenny Walker, Phillip Sanders, Kevin Falls, Scott Howell, Sandra Wilson or KMPD P.I. Mike Sanders and Houston Corn.

Another Operation ID coffee break is scheduled at West Gate Plaza September 4, 5 and 6 and all donations will be turned over to the KM Rescue Squad for use toward the purchase of a new ambulance. The junior police will co-sponsor the program with COPE.

COPE plans to schedule monthly meetings on different nights for the future. The next meeting will be September 7 at 7 p. m. at city hall. Police Chief Earl Lloyd will present the program. COPE members and interested citizens are invited to attend.

CIRCLE 2

Circle 2, First Presbyterian Church, will meet Monday, Sept., 6 at 7:30 p. m. with Mrs. Ken Davis, 803 Woodside Drive.

Selling Magazines

The junior class at Kings Mountain Senior High will go door-to-door throughout the city September 9-20 selling and renewing magazine subscriptions.

Bunky Robinson, class president, said the project is to raise money to sponsor the 1976-77 junior-senior prom.

"This project is approved under a state-wide Perfect School Plan program," Robinson said. "Some of magazines the junior classmen will have available are TV Guide, cookbooks, sports magazines and many others."

Sponsors for the project are William Alexander, Mrs. Kay Bridges, Mrs. Kathy Goforth, Myers Hambright, Mrs. Diane Harper, Mrs. Mattie Lowery, Mrs. Sue Moss, Miss Elizabeth Parker, Mrs. Virginia Raymer and Joel Rountree.

The public is urged to participate in this project. For further information, call Bunky Robinson, 789-6328.

A's Stay

Alive, 10-0

Kings Mountain's A's kept alive their chances for a second straight Triple County League title Tuesday night, defeating the Royal Bums of Charlotte 10-0 in the league tournament.

The A's now advance to a 3 p. m. Saturday game at Harding High School against the loser of the Hoskins Giants-Morris Field Rangers game.

Lefty Alan Lindsay hurled Tuesday's win, a one-hitter. He gave up a leadoff single in the first but picked the runner off base. He fanned 12 and walked two.

Darrell Whetstone led the KM plate attack with 3-for-3, including a two-run homer in the second inning. Charles Rhodes and Danny McDowell were 2-for-3 each and Clarence Ash 1-for-2.

Mike Mahaffey will start Saturday's game for the A's. If KM wins, it will advance to a Sunday game against an undetermined foe. If the A's lose, they're eliminated for the double-elimination event.
