Daughters of the American Revolution.

She was the daughter of the late city founder and first Mayor William Andrew Mauney and Candace Miller Mauney.

Her reputation as a noted geneologist was well known. She was author of the city's early history for the Kings Mountain Centennial Booklet which was published by the Kings Mountain Centennial Commission and many of her historical writings have been published, including a history of three Mauney families and the Hambrights. She was instrumental in assisting many members of Colonel Frederick Hambricht Chapter DAR trace their family lineage and delighted in helping them.

Educated in the Kings Mountain Schools and at Elizabeth College in Charlotte, she was a cashier at First National Bank during the World War 1 years and a night class which she started for men in the 20's who had no formal schooling in reading and arithmetic grew into the Adult Class of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church which she taught until her retirement. For a number of years she was chairman of the Altar Guild at St. Matthew's, was a state treasurer of the DAR, and during her youth was a state officer in the Luther League. Her late father founded the city's first newspaper and cotton mill and was also the town's first mayor and postmaster.

Surviving are her son, Frank A. Summers of Atlanta, Ga., her daughters, Mrs. L. E. (Virginia) Hinnant of Kings Mountain and Miss Frances Summers of Charlotte; her sister, Mrs. J. E. Herndon, Sr. of Kings Mountain; and four grandchildren, Bonnie Hinnant and Rickert Hinnant, both of Kings Mountain, and Frank Summers and Miss Frances Summers, both of Atlanta, Ga.

release form. Contestants should also find a sponsor or contact the committee to assist in finding a sponsor.

Mrs. Lee said the rockathon will begin at 10 a. m., Thurs., Oct. 7. Contestants will be allowed a seven minute rest period each hour.

Other activities will be announced next Wednesday.

Jim Howard, assistant director for public affairs, Southeast Region, National Park Service, said Tuesday "this will be the fifth major Bicentennial event in the Southeast Region involving the National Park Service." Also attending Tuesday's press conference here were Herbert Kersh, mayor of Clover, S. C.; Bob Moore, York, S. C. City Manager; Leonard Hope, representative of Cherokee County Bicentennial Commission, Harold Young, York-Clover Bicentennial Committee representative and Bob Manning, assistant director of the S. C. Bicentennial Committee.

From Kings Mountain, along with Mayor Moss, were Howard Jackson and Mrs. John O. Plonk, co-chairpersons of the Kings Mountain Bicentennial Commission.

John Beck of the National Park Service will coordinate press coverage for celebration.

Bethware Fair

Opens In Rain

Rain dampened the opening of Bethware Fair Wednesday afternoon but not the enthusiasm of the young folk.

It's fair time again in Kings Mountain and Bethware Progressive Club officials are predicting that record crowds will attend the fair which continues through Saturday night at midnight on the grounds of Bethware School.

Agricultural, commercial and school exhibits were being assembled Wednesday afternoon in the school cafeteria for judging and awarding of ribbons and cash prizes on Thursday.

"We have a record number of entries," said Myers Hambricht, Bethware Progressive club president.

There is no admission to the fair. Children's Day is today (Thursday) with special rides and events on tap.

Lowes Foods Opening Today

Lowes Foods opened today in the West Gate Plaza Shopping Center, the 41st store for the Wilkesboro-based retail food chain.

Originally scheduled to be opened on September 29, the date was moved ahead to this week, according to Chris Eckerd, Lowes Foods promotion and public relations manager, "because the store was prepared much faster than we had anticipated."

Preparation included interviewing and hiring managers and clerks, approximately 40 in all. Eckerd said all of the employees planned for the Kings Mountain store have been hired and are on the job.

Two Kings Mountians, Jerry Mullinax and Vernon Smith, were employed as manager and co-manager of the local operation along with Bruno McDaniels from Wilkesboro as market manager and Michael Haire of Lincolnton as produce manager. Both McDaniels and Haire are planning to move to Kings Mountain in the near future.

Lowes Foods will be open for business from 8:30 a. m. until 9 p. m. Monday through Saturday and from 1-7 p. m. Sundays.

West Gate Plaza also contains a Revco Drug and TG&Y Store to round out the shopping complex.
