Netters Eyeing Big Year

(From Page 7A)

Keeter have variety experience.

"With maybe one or two exceptions," says Guy, "all of these players look like they've improved a lot over last year."

Guy says attitude will play a big role in KM's success.

"They all have a lot of desire to do well," he says. "All have real good attitudes, they enjoy the sport and enjoy playing. Usually, I have to run them off the courts at the end of practice."

Guy says Deaton is playing with more confidence than he did last spring. Boheler and Reed, who played number six and seven last year, have improved tremendously and that Morehead could be the big surprise player in the SWC.

Cloninger, who played number five last year, got a late start because of playing on the basketball team, but has a lot of natural ability and should come around quickly.

Summitt, who made All-SWC in doubles last year as Morehead's playing partner, had a layoff over the winter but Guy's expecting him to develop quickly, also.

One of Guy's coaching philosophies is good conditioning and he feels his Mountaineers will be in as good playing shape as anyone they'll face.

Guy will also be working with the girls tennis team, but it will not begin practice until the latter part of this month.

The Mountaineers lost their top three players from last year, including unbeaten Kathy Wheeler, who was the top-ranked player in the SWC. Other key losses were Kaki Mauney and Cheryl Lutz.

"It will definitely be a rebuilding year for the girls," says Guy, "but I still expect them to come up with a winning season."

The Mountaineers had their best year ever last spring under Allen Dixon, finishing second.

The only returning starters for the girls are Bonnie Hinnant, Rhonda Shytles, Mercedes Smith, Sara Maner and Kathy Brennan, but Guy's hoping several talented young players will come out for the squad.

Mike Bugar

Joins G-W

Grid Staff

BOILING SPRINGS - Mike Bugar, assistant coach at Wofford College for the past six seasons, has been named defensive line coach at Gardner-Webb College.

Bugar fills the vacancy created last week by G-W assistant Jim Gudger, who resigned to accept a position at Eastern Illinois University.

The announcement was made by Gardner-Webb head football coach Oval Jaynes.

"For the past two years, Wofford's defense has been the one most difficult for us to play against," stated Jaynes. "And the person responsible for their defensive front was Mike Bugar. He's an outstanding young coach and I'm thankful to have him with us."

Bugar began working with the Bulldog defense this week as the team finally began the outdoor phase of its spring drills. His first week was one of familiarization.

"I've never seen Gardner-Webb's defense, not even on film," he admitted. "When we played them (G-W) at Wofford, my worry was trying to stop their offense. This is a great offensive football team."
