

Seniors Present Play To Student Body

By CINDIE SHORT
KMSHS Correspondent

The Senior Class Play, "Lock, Stock and Lipstick", was presented to the student body earlier last week. The play evolved around the setting of a high school concerning the schools receiving a new woman counselor (Sharon Fruette). The old male guidance counselor (Wes Narron) does not like the new woman guidance counselor but then towards the end of the play he starts liking her really well. The maid (Lee Ann DeVane) then falls for the head custodian (Doug Sincoc) during the play. Also the mother, (Sandra Wingo), gets very upset when her son (William Thompson) does bad things to upset the school. Other students involved in the play are Larry Gill and Cathy Grier who played two young students trying to organize a yearbook. Theron Feemster, playing a typical student observer, Sara Davison, a woman principal; Daena Clemmer, a pesty student who is reformed by the new guidance counselor. Rheta Jackson was set designer and Gene Alexander was the director.
