

Pre-School Screening Most Important To Grover School

PRE-SCHOOL SCREENING — Mrs. Juanita Herron, first grade teacher, conducts pre-school screening tests of student, Rodney Black, age five. A new approach to the teaching-learning process, Grover's new expanded program is already showing results in the classroom.

fighting for an art course for 20 years and I expect to go on fighting" he said. Another dream for Grover is a full-time school psychologist who can also counsel parents, along with the kids.

The Grover plant is currently involved in a self-study for accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Universities and Principal Scruggs said that a visiting committee is expected on campus within the next few weeks. The self study involves community participation also.

Shirley Valentine, school secretary, said she feels that Grover is offering a program "for the whole child to grow and develop." Mrs. Valentine has been employed by the KM system for 17 years, working in school offices also at KMHS, Bethware, East, Park Grace and West plants before going to Grover. She is a graduate of Kings Mountain High School.

Parent-Teacher Organization is a new approach to the P-TA and at Grover the group holds special projects to earn money for needed school items. The P-TA recently donated a lamination machine and held a most successful brunswick stew project, a complete sell-out.

"We had to return some of the tickets," said Mrs. Valentine, it was such a sell-out."

A graduate of Cliffside High, Jim Scruggs attended Gardner-Webb College, completed a two-year hitch with Uncle Sam and graduated from Western Carolina with B. S. and ASU with Master's and principal's certification. He has also completed graduate work at Western Carolina University.

He came to Grover after teaching three years at Ellenboro, one year at ASU on a fellowship and two years at Burlington. Mrs. Scruggs is the former Martha Hudson of Brevard and they are parents of two children, Becky, a senior at WCU, and Chris, a second grader. They are active in Trinity Episcopal Church.

Grover School has changed a lot since I was a student in grades 8-12 and all for the better, a campus where youngsters are growing up in a good environment and enjoying every minute of it.
