as published in the interest of the fine

be p...
At the plan to publish a paper in our community (for that name of the new publication is THE CAR-OLINA NEWS) the paper is what its name implies in that it seeks to serve the large energetic, progressive, resourceful population in Western North Carolina and upper South Carolina. We can and will be of service to the people in Cleveland County, Blacksburg, Gastonia, Lincolnton, Hickory, Marion, Sparta, Tryon and of course all Rutherford County. It is this area that we plan to work and in this area lives some of the finest folks on the earth and it is our desire and hope to give them the best paper possible twice a month. How can we do it? By you, our friends and readers doing at least three things for us, plus the hundreds of things we are going to do for ourselves.

One—When it is convenient or possible buy a copy for 10¢ or subscribe for only $2.50 for one year.

Two—Become a good-will Ambassador for THE CAR-OLINA NEWS speaking a good word for the paper whenever you see it or say a word or two to our advertisers, let them know that we appreciate their Three—Get advertising. Every independent newspaper could survive without a large advertising budget. It has been done before. We receive the fine cooperation of several sympathetic attitude holders in Rutherford county. To get assured. As time passes we will get advertising wherever THE CAROLINA NEWS is sold regularly and in large quantities.

Finally, with the above factors agreed upon, what do you say about us making it official, by buying a paper or subscribing, or by doing some real honest promotional work and as a businessman how about getting a little copy ready for the NEWS ad man?

A Fellowship of Many Followers

COMMUNION OF CHRIST'S DISCIPLES SPREAD ABROAD

Scripture—John 15:1-9, Romans 16:1-27, Philippians 2:12-17; Colossians 4:7-18;

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
JESUS' DISCOURSE IN John 15 was given on Thursday of Holy Week. In it Christ used a simile that would be familiar to those listening to Him. He said, "I am the true vine, and My Father is the husbandman. Every branch in Me that beareth not fruit He taketh away; and every branch that beareth fruit, He purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit."

"Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you."

"Abide in Me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in Me."

"I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in Me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without Me ye can do nothing."

"If ye abide in Me, and My words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you."

"To the Philippians when he was in prison, Paul wrote: 'Do all things without murmuring and disputing.'

"That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world."

"None of us can be perfect, but if we would only remember Paul's words about 'murmuring and disputing,' our homes and our churches would be much nearer perfection than most of them are this day."

"Further Paul wrote: 'Holding fast the word of life; that I may rejoice in the day of Christ; that I have not run in vain, neither labored in vain.'

"'Tis, and I be offered upon the sacrifice and service of your faith, I joy, and rejoice with you."

In his epistle to the brethren at Colosse, Paul sent his personal greetings to his friends, telling them Tychicus, "who is a beloved brother," would declare of his (Paul's) state, as Paul had sent him to them to do so and to discover their condition and "comfort your hearts."

Our lesson is too long to name all the friends to whom Paul sent salutations, but "Luke, the beloved physician, and Demas," who were with Paul, sent their greetings, too. He concluded this epistle with the words, "The salvation by the hand of me, Paul. Remember my bonds. Grace be with you, Amen."

How many followers had been added to the small church group that were in Palestine when Jesus was carried to glory!

Thinks Truman May Support Gov. Adlai Stevenson

Some Speculation That Truman May Endorse Stevenson-Russell Slate For Presidency

SCHOOL SUPPORT . . . Like a Moses looking into the promised land, Gubernatorial Candidate Hubert Olive cast longing eyes in the direction of teacher PTA support and came out two weeks ago flatfootedly favoring the legislative program of United Forces for Education which calls for: additional State funds for school buildings, more school buses, teacher salary range from $2,600 per year for beginning teachers to $4,100 per annum for those most experienced, reduction in the teacher load from 31.7 pupils to 30, and attendance officers to enforce compulsory attendance law.

William B. Umstead has come out for about the same program, but has tempered it with phrases such as "the largest possible" increase in salaries and a "comprehensive study and review" of building needs, "enforcement of the school attendance law", and making "as safe as humanly possible" school transportation.

COLUMN . . . Jesse Helms, who is apparently doing a hang-up job as administrative assistant to Willis Smith, was in Raleigh last week attending the annual meeting of the N. C. Citizens Association.

Helms indulged in a great deal off the cuff conversation with friends from throughout the State. One interesting note: the Willis Smith newspaper column out of Washington is now running in 63 North Carolina papers.

NO CANDIDATE . . . Those Democrats who were in Raleigh attending the Citizens Association meeting were almost solely of the opinion that President Harry Truman would not run again for the Presidency. They felt that along in the early summer he would throw his strength to Illinois Governor Adlai Stevenson, who like Estes Kefauver is known as a tac-itive man.

William B. Umstead has come out for about the same program, but has tempered it with phrases such as "the largest possible" increase in salaries and a "comprehensive study and review" of building needs, "enforcement of the school attendance law", and making "as safe as humanly possible" school transportation.

State. One interesting note:

umn out of Washington is now

ONE HOUR . . . Senator Clyde

R. Hoey had those attending the Citizens Association meeting practically humming that old popular bard, "If I could be with You One Hour Tonight".

Senator Willis Smith had praised him. The crowd had stood applauding him and his record. Senator Smith had presented Hoey with the association's certificate of outstanding citizenship in recognition of his 50 years of public services. Then Senator Russell had presented him with a scroll bearing the signatures of Democratic members of the Senate. Everybody was bubbling over for Clyde Roark

Hoey.

He had already made the speech of the evening. Although both James Byrnes and Harry Byrd had spoken in previous years at the annual meeting of the Citizens Association, everybody there knew that neither of these nor

Smith, nor Russell could approach Senator Hoey as a word merchant, as a coined of colorful phrases.

The praise had been so creamy thick, so wholesome, and so laden with the essence, the folks felt that Hoey would be toasted with emotion, might be (God forbid it) even stricken speechless.

He wasn't Clyde Hoey stod to respond. He didn't want for a word. Said he "I feel just like a bet-hunter."

Crusoe was that the South would line up with Georgia Senator Russell who when he was introduced to the crowd received an ovation reminiscent of those accorded FDR in the halcyon days of the New Deal. Stevenson is an old friend of South Carolina Gov. James F. Byrnes.

More important, Adlai Stevenson is a cousin of Senator Richard Russell.

STEVENSON - RUSSELL? . . . Stalwart Washington Columists Stewart and Joe Alsop said last week: "There is good reason to believe that President Truman, as he ponders his fateful decision under the Florida sun, is now turning over in his mind a rather astonishing idea. This is the notion of a Democratic ticket headed by Adlai Stevenson, who is the president's favorite for first place if he does not run himself, and — here — the element of surprise enters — with Sen. Richard Russell, of Georgia, in second place.

"Moreover, Stevenson has strong feelings about both states' rights and government economy, and these views are welcome in the South.

"Russell's presence on the ticket would reinforce the South absolutely against a Republican invasion by a ticket headed by Taft, and probably even by ticket headed by Eisenhower."
