

Robert Bradley leads loosening up exercises at KMHS practice session...

KM Progressing Well

Long as they stay coachable I feel like we can get out of them what we want to."

The Mountaineers lost several starters and all but 11 lettermen off last year's team. "We'll have some people at the skilled positions that are untested," he said. "Those people, such as quarterbacks, split ends and flankers, are not experienced but we feel like we've got the athletes that are going to be able to fill them. "We have better speed and strength than we had a year ago and hope it can pay off for us. But we don't know what to expect because the Southwestern Conference is always strong."

Brooks is looking closely at three quarterback candidates. Senior Jeff Cloninger would seem to have the nod because he does have some varsity experience. But Mike Woodberry, last year's jayvee quarterback, and Alan Van Dyke, who is out for the first time, both look good.

The Mounties return their best running back from last year, senior speedster Kevin Mack.

Milton White, who played some last year, also looks good, as well as Calvin Hood and Terry Chapman, both up from the jayvees.

Chris Wright saw some fullback duty last year after being called up from the jayvees, and Brooks can also call on Avery Smith and Maurice Jamerson. Smith was a strong runner as a sophomore but did not play last year.

Danny Williams, a letterman, is the leading candidate at center but fighting hard for a starting berth is junior Mark Scruggs, who did a good job with the jayvees last fall.

Glenn Carroll returns at guard and Mike Chambers and Mark E. Smith will also see a lot of action there.

The Mounties should be strong at tackle. Lynn Thompson and Keith Blanton are returnees, Darryl Strong looks to be a promising prospect there and Henry Hager, out for the first time, will play a lot.

Tim Leach returns at tight end and should prove to be one of the best linemen in the conference, but even he is not assured of a starting spot. Wally Davis, out for the first time, is making a lot of progress, as well as Robert Bradley.

Mark Schuman, who can also play quarterback, is a returnee at split end and Jeff Lineberger and Markus Hager also look good there.

At flanker, the Mounties lost Buck Burton but Brooks said "there are several kids that really want to play there." They include Tony Boyce, Boo Robinson and Johnny Ross.

Defensively, Blanton returns at nose guard, Thompson at tackle, Ross at monster, White at cornerback and Markus Hager at safety.

Chambers and Jamerson will see a lot of action at the nose guard, Strong and Williams at tackle; Smith, Wright and Davis at end; Mack, Carroll, Scruggs and Hood at linebacker; Van Dyke and Boyce at monster; Schuman, Lineberger, Rick Chapman and Vince Johnson at cornerback and Mark F. Smith at safety.

"We feel good about the progress we've made," said Brooks. The kids have a lot of pride. We've gotten super support from the administration. That's the only way to get done what we've got to do."

Post 155 Is Champ

American Legion Post 155 emerged as the champions in the first annual Invitational Softball Tournament sponsored by KM Jaycees Sunday at Deal St. Park.

Playing in the series were Post 155, Jaycees, Kiwanis and Rotary.

Post 155 defeated Jaycees in the first game 8-3 and beat Rotary in the second game 13-7. Rotary had defeated Kiwanis in the first game to advance to the playoffs.

Bill Lynn was the winning pitcher for Post 155.

Volleyball Meeting Set

Area churches interested in entering the men's and or women's volleyball league this year are urged to attend a league organizational meeting August 20 at 7 p.m. at First Baptist Church.

League president Jim Downey said this will be the last meeting before the season and all churches planning to enter must have a representative present.

Say Uncle! Mike Chambers and Danny Williams work on strengthening exercises...

KM A's To Host Playoffs

The Kings Mountain A's will host the Union County Dodgers at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at Davidson Park in the opening round of the Jackie Robinson League playoffs.

Kings Mountain reached the playoffs for the fifth year in a row by finishing first place in the Bell Division. The top eight teams advanced to the double-elimination tournament. KM finished 16-9 in league play and 19-10 overall.

Either righthander Tommy Milwood or southpaw Alan Lindsay will start on the mound Sunday. Sunday's game is the first playoff game ever held in Kings Mountain.

In other playoff openers, Morris Field Rangers will play the Hoskins Giants, the Mecklenburg Orioles face the Davidson Jets and the Charlotte Bombers play the Northside

Bombers.

In KM's final regular season game last Sunday, the A's edged the Hoskins Giants 9-8 in 12 innings. Ken Batty, the third KM pitcher, worked the final five innings and got the win. He also drove in the winning run in the 12th.

Larry Walters went 3-for-4 to raise his league-leading batting average to .741. Batty, Charles Rhodes, Danny McDowell, Mark Hager and Scott Vouse added two hits each.

Booster Club To Have Cookout

The Booster's Club will sponsor its annual "Meet the Mounties" cookout for members of the Kings Mountain High football team Friday at 7 p.m. at Gamble Stadium.

The cookout will climax the club's first annual football camp.

The cookout is for the team only but all area fans are urged to come by and meet the players and coaches.
