

Hunter To Speak At Rotary

Charles A. Hunter, president and general manager of Hunter Jersey Farms, Inc. of Charlotte, will be guest speaker at Thursday's meeting of the Kings Mountain Rotary Club at 12:15 at Kings Mountain Country Club.

Mr. Hunter will use the subject, "The Place of Agriculture in North Carolina and U.S. Economy."

"Because agriculture is the largest industry in America at $125 billion, it contributes $16 billion plus to the balance of payment, helping to offset some $40-$45 billion in oil imports," said Mr. Hunter, who grew up on a dairy farm in Mecklenburg County, earned his B.S. in animal husbandry from N.C. State University in 1940 and graduated from the Executive program of UNC in 1957. He is a past president of the N.C. Dairy Products Association, past president of the National All-Jersey, Inc., of Columbus, Ohio, recipient of the Small Businessman of the Year award for 1973, and recipient of the Top Management Award from sales and marketing executives.

He served as president of the Mecklenburg County Council Boy Scouts for three years, holds the Silver Beaver award in scouting, and is a past district governor of Rotary District 767, among his many accomplishments in civic and community endeavors.

Mr. Hunter has been an Elder in the Presbyterian Church since 1942, a past moderator of Presbytery and chairman of the Board of Trustees of Montreat-Anderson College.

Mrs. Hunter is an instructor in special education in the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools and they are parents of seven children.

Rotarian Tom Trott has arranged the program.

Police were kept hopping answering several reports of larcenies and attempted break-ins during the weekend.

Rev. Jerry Smith, of 111 E. Parker St., reported the theft of 20 gallons of gasoline from his vehicle parked at the Church of God manse.

Dessie Crosby, of 1101 Groves St., reported that vandals threw rocks through her windshield and damaged the vehicle approximately $140.

Jerry Oliver, of 112 Stowe Acres, reported that someone took his Regency Scanner, valued at $180.

Carl Ramsey, of 620 E. King St., reported damage to his property by an automobile driver who became "stuck in the mud" while trying to turn around.

An attempted break-in was discovered by Officer Ralph Grindstaff at Mountaineer Pharmacy on West Mountain St. Grindstaff said that an electrical meter had been removed from the outside wall but entry to the building was not gained. A burglar alarm was activated, said the officer, who discovered fresh tire marks at the scene. Betty Anderson, of 305 1/2 Parker St., reported that someone broke a window at her residence and entered the house while she and her husband were away. They reported $560 in cash missing.

Senior Citizens Day Is Slated Saturday

Senior Citizens Day is Sat., Nov. 17th at the KM Depot Center and the five-hour event, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m., is a fund-raising event to provide funds for a big Christmas party for the daily participants at the Depot Center.

Volunteers in the program are sponsoring the event which will be kicked off at 10 a.m. by music by "The Swinging Mountaineers," KM Senior Citizens Band. Hotdogs, hamburgers, barbecue, and desserts and drinks will be available.

The annual auction will begin at 11 a.m. with Jomas Bridges, manager of Radio Station WKMT, as auctioneer. The recently-formed Quilting Class at the Center is donating the first quilt to be auctioned and other handmade bazaar items will be included.

Said Rev. Kenneth George, director of the KM Aging Program, "Some people have given donations in the past and a donation this year would be appreciated. Our main concern is not to ask for assistance but to let those interested in Senior Citizens share with them in this special day."

Rev. George continued, "Our people are always willing to do their share and we have always appreciated the city and community support. I am told more is being done in meeting the basic needs through the Kings Mountain Aging Program for elderly and handicapped than any group in our area. We want to continue our activities in an organized way to help meet more basic needs for our elderly citizens."

The annual Christmas party for the Aging program will be held Dec. 15th.

Marvin Sisk To Present Program

Marvin Sisk will present a special audio-visual program at David Baptist Church on Sunday, Nov. 18, at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Sisk, a layman from Gastonia, has presented his "Chalk Talks" in several churches in this area.

He combines artwork with devotional comments to create an unusual and inspiring program.

The public is invited to attend.

Competition Increasing

Competition among "trail bosses" in the Pony Express program at Central United Methodist Church is increasing, as the stewardship "run" enters the home stretch.

Rev. Robert Boggan, pastor, says enthusiasm for the finance campaign has reached the same high level attained during the first Pony Express Run last year.

In an effort to be among the first to complete their work, trail bosses are urging their route riders to keep the saddlebags moving.

Several trail bosses say the "end of the trail is near" and urged persons who have not been contacted by route riders having difficulty finding them away from home to contact the church office.

Bill Russell is general manager of the PX campaign.

Farmers Meeting Tonight

The Cleveland County Agricultural Extension Service will be conducting a meeting for farmers interested in growing green beans for the processing market. The meeting is slated today at 7 p.m. at the County Office Building. Some area farmers have been interested in this crop as a possible way to maximize available land and equipment, as well as an additional source of farm income. All interested farmers are welcome to attend.

November Book Fair At Central

The annual November Book Fair is underway this week at Central School.

Books for all students in K-middle school are available in the library of the school and can be purchased for gift-giving or for reading by the students themselves.

Assisting in the project this week are local parents, who are manning the Fair, open to the public. They are Mrs. Mary Edwards, Mrs. Betty Petty, Mrs. Ruby Walker, Mrs. Martha Brown and Mrs. Doris Davis. The books are provided by the Great American Book Fair, Longwood, Fla.

Have Pets Vaccinated Now

Cleveland County Health Director, Richard Steeves, want to remind residents of the county to have their pets vaccinated against rabies. A cow diagnosed as having rabies in Rutherford County has brought additional concern. Every effort needs to be made to avoid the introduction of rabies in our domestic animals.

County dog wardens are canvassing door-to-door the area running from the center of Boiling Springs south, and west of 150 to Rutherford County. According to county dog warden, Bobby Gaston, cooperation from residents is greatly needed. Rabies tags received when owners dogs was vaccinated should be attached to its collar. If the dog has not been vaccinated, a citation will be issued. The owner will have three days to get the dog vaccinated. If the dog is not vaccinated within three days it may be picked up by the wardens.

Cleveland County ordinance requires that all dogs four months of age and older be vaccinated against rabies. Booster shots are required also. It is recommended that all cats also be vaccinated against rabies.

For further information, contact the Health Department at 482-8311 ext. 241.
