BENJI INGLE

Benji Celebrates Fifth Birthday

Benji Ingle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ingle, celebrated his fifth birthday Aug. 26th. A birthday party was held at Kate's Skating Rink in Gastonia. Benji's brother, Jonah, age one, joined in the party festivities with family members. Benji is grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wheeler and Mr. and Mrs. Hershall Davis, Sr., all of Kings Mountain, and great-grandson of Mrs. Nora Wheeler of Warner Robbins, Ga.

CHARLIE WARLICK

Eighth Birthday For Warlick

Charlie Warlick, son of Philip and Carolyn Warlick, will celebrate his eighth birthday Sept. 19th at a "Duke's of Hazard" Party. Charlie and his friends will go bowling and will return to the Warlick home to view "Duke's of Hazard" on television and enjoy a birthday cake decorated with General Lee and the Duke's Car. Party favors will be Confederate flags. Charlie is grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Plato Heavner of Kings Mountain and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Warlick of Shelby. His paternal great grandmother is Mrs. C.J. Gault, Sr. of Kings Mountain.

The Warlick family, formerly of Kings Mountain, reside at 919 Lexington Court in Cary. Mrs. Warlick is the former Carolyn Heavner.

Billy Smith Three Years Old

Billy Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith of Center St., celebrated his third birthday on September 1.

A Big Bird birthday cake was served with all the trimmings and Big Bird decorations were used for the party.

Twenty guests attended including Billy's brother Dale, and his sister, Keisha.

Billy is the grandson of Mrs. Doris Leigh of Dallas and William P. Leigh of Shelby.

Seven Kings Mountain area women were among a chartered tour group from Lafayette Street Methodist Church Senior Citizens who spent several days recently in Colonial Williamsburg, Va.

They were Mrs. Nancy Dover, Mrs. Ruth Gamble, Miss Rita Falls, Mrs. Orangel Jolly, Mrs. Paul Short, Mrs. Eunice Smith and Mrs. Ruth Huffstetler.

According to the local citizens, visitors to Williamsburg experience life as it was lived in George Washington's day in a small colonial city alive once again with functioning shops, craftspeople at work in their particular specialties and bustling taverns that serve food and drink such as would have been served in the 18th Century when

Williamsburg was the metropolis of Britain's vast Virginia holdings. The 173-acre historical area is centered around Duke of Gloucester Street which runs from the College of William and Mary, where Thomas Jefferson studied, approximately one mile to the one time Capitol where Patrick Henry denounced King George III's stamp tax. Duke of Gloucester Street itself is lined with old homes, taverns, stores and craft shops.

Blackwell Reunion Held

The family of the late W.C. and Alice Huffstetler Blackwell, former residents of Kings Mountain, held their annual family reunion at the Lake Wylie cottage of a granddaughter, Jake and Marjorie Montgomery, in August.

The Blackwells lived in Kings Mountain for a number of years and ran a grocery store at the present site of Allen's Florists.

Over 100 persons attended the reunion, coming from New Orleans, Florida, Greenville, S.C., Mauldin, S.C., Piedmont, S.C., Easley, S.C., Blacksburg, S.C., Grover, Kings Mountain, Gastonia, Cramerton and Lexington.

Children attending were Ulyess Blackwell and Mrs. Elidge (Bedia) Treadaway, both of Gastonia; Mrs. Charlie (Ola) Price of Greensboro and Bynum Blackwell of Cramerton.
