Okays Project

Grover's Town Council voted unanimously Tuesday night to renovate Town Hall and turn the old Police Chief's Office into the business office.

In a special 20-minute session, the board also voted to use the current business office as a combined police chief-mayor's office.

Grover will greet its new police chief, Mike Brown, Sunday afternoon, and called the special session so work can begin immediately in hopes of having it near completion by his arrival.

Brown, 27, is a Kings Mountain native and for the past year has served on the Hickory Police Department. He is married to the former Susan Owens of Kings Mountain.

He will be sworn into office at 2 p.m. Sunday in special ceremonies at Town Hall.

The board has been discussing renovating Town Hall for several months. The new business office will include a counter which will prevent customers from coming around the clerk's desk, new panelling and a lowered ceiling.

Signs will be painted on both doors, designating one side of the building as the business office and the other side as the police department.

In other matters Tuesday, the board:

—Authorized the purchase of $130 worth of equipment for the police department.

Army and served as Projects Manager for the Cansler Street Urban Renewal Project.

The body will be taken to Galilee Church Thursday at 6 p.m. and the family will receive friends from 7 until 7:30 p.m.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Virginia Perkins Brown; their daughter, Tanya, of the home; and his parents, Mrs. Ina Virginia Couser and Hazel Brown, Sr., both of Kings Mountain.
