Woods Wed Saturday

Dixon Presbyterian Church was the setting Saturday afternoon for an exchange of wedding vows uniting Miss Emily Dawn Black and John Welton Wood, both of Charlotte.

The bridegroom's father, Rev. Graham Wood, pastor of Dixon Presbyterian Church, heard the couple exchange vows of the 3:30 p.m. double-ring ceremony.

Mike Penninger of Charlotte was pianist for the program of wedding music.

The church altar was banked with ferns.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ankle-length gown of white organdie featuring short, puff sleeves and Peter Pan collar. Lace inserts enhanced the bodice and skirt. She wore stephanotis and ribbons in her hair and carried a nosegay of daisies.

Mrs. Bill Magill of Charlotte attended the bride as matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a street-length dress in autumn tones and carried a bouquet of daisies.

Martin Graham Wood of Charlotte was his brother's best man.

After the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at a reception in the church fellowship hall where a yellow and white color motif was featured in decorative details. Overlaid with white cloth, the bride's table, highlight of decoration, held a tiered yellow and white bridal cake as central decoration. The cake was cut and served with yellow punch.

Miss Louisa Wood, sister of the bridegroom, kept a guest register in the vestibule of the church.

For a wedding trip the new Mrs. Wood chose a navy suit with white blouse and lifted the corsage from her bouquet.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Smith of Whiteville, the bride attended Central Piedmont Community College and is employed by First Union National Bank in Charlotte.

The bridegroom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Graham Wood of Kings Mountain and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Martin Sr. of Hiawassee, Ga. and the late Rev. and Mrs. W.G. Wood Sr. He is a graduate of Independence High School and attended Central Piedmont Community College. He is employed with Schloss Company in Charlotte.
