SOJOURNER TRUTH YWCA SEWING CLASS

Now that Spring is just around the corner, why not join the sewing class at the "Y" each Monday and Tuesday nights from 7-9 p. m.?

Do not let any lack of sewing skills bother you. All we want is a desire to learn by you, and in a little while you will know the tricks of the trade.

Each first Saturday, from 10-12 noon we have a class in tailoring hints, which might be of interest to some.

Weekly Church Roundup

By Mrs. May L. Broadie

"Father, who through Jesus Christ made us Thy children, let us learn this day something more what it means to be children of God."

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL — Sunday School began at 9:45 with the supt., Mr. Sherman Lewis in charge. Regular service started at 11 o'clock with the senior choir in charge of music, directed by Mr. Ernest Massenburg.

From the Book of St. Matthew, 17th chapter, the Rev. H. Cunningham, pastor, chose his subject: "Overshadowed Cloud."

UNION BAPTIST — Sunday School began at 9:45 with the supt., Mr. B. T. Sanders, in charge. Church services started at the usual time with the senior choir in charge of music, directed by Mrs. Nettie Arrington.

The organist was the Rev. Nathaniel Vinson. A very beautiful and inspiring message was brought by the pastor, the Rev.

George Mitchell, from the Book of St. Matthew. Communion was administered at the close of the service.

YOUNG'S MISSIONARY TEMPLE CME—Church School started at the usual hour with Mrs. Della Ford, supt., in charge. Morning worship began at 11 o'clock with the senior choir in charge of music, directed by Miss Bettie Jean Broadie.

A very inspiring message was brought by the pastor, the Rev. James N. Lovette, from the Book of St. John: "To Be Free Is To Know." Communion followed.

LILY OF THE VALLEY BAPTIST—Church School began at the regular time with the supt., Mr. Joseph Williams, Sr., in charge. Worship service began at 11 o'clock with the senior choir in charge of music, directed by Mrs. Ruth Ligon.

A very good message was delivered by the pastor, the Rev. J. F. Graham, from the Book of St. Luke, 6th verse: "Ye Shall See Jesus." The pastor, officers, members and friends are in deep sympathy with Mrs. Jettie Lee and family in the death of Mrs. Lee's husband, Mr. Eddie Lee, whose funeral was held at the Lily of the Valley Church last Sunday afternoon.

WILSON TEMPLE METHODIST — Sunday School started at 9:45 with Miss Nannie Morgan, supt., in charge. Regular worship got underway at 11 o'clock with the senior choir in charge of music. The scripture was read from the Book of Hebrews, 12th chapter. A very encouraging message was brought by the pastor, the Rev. Oscar W. Burwick.

FIRST BAPTIST—Church School began at 9:30 a. m., with the supt., Mr. W. H. Taylor, Sr., in charge. Morning worship began at 11 o'clock with the senior choir in charge of music. Scripture was read by the Rev. J. A. Lester from the 1st chapter of St. Mark. The morning prayer was given by Rev. C. C. Jones. A very sweet sermon was brought by Dr. W. C. Somerville from the Book of St. Matt: "What Business You Have With Us"

Maple Temple Church News

BY MISS LENA M. EURE

On Sunday, March 1, morning worship service began promptly at 11:00 o'clock at the Maple Temple Christian Church.

The call to worship was made by the pastor, the Reverend M. F. Booker, and the senior choir, marched in singing, "We're Marching to Zion."

After the choir had taken its place, it sang, "Gloria Patria." We were then led in prayer by our pastor, while the choir softly chanted, "The Lord's Prayer."

After the first hymn of the morning rendered by the choir, "Break Thou The Bread of Life," the scripture lesson was read by Rev. C. C. Burnett from the 27th chapter of St. Matthew, verses 1-22.

The missionary offering was lifted by the choir sang, "Pass Me Not." This offering was blessed by Deacon Holloway.

The announcements of the week and the introduction of visitors were made.

The choir then sang, "He Knows How," while the general offering was being taken. The general offering was consecrated by the singing of, "Praise to God, From Whom All Blessings Flow."

The pastor then began his sermon, which was centered around the 22nd chapter of St. Matthew. This passage of scripture tells about the condemnation of Christ by the angry mob.

The theme of the pastor's sermon was, "What shall I then do with Jesus?"

There was another man before Pilate, at the same time Jesus was condemned, named Barabbas, who was released and Pilate asked of the angry mob, "What shall I then do with Jesus?"

This was a very beautiful sermon telling of the trial of Jesus. It was also a most timely and enjoyable sermon.

Immediately after the sermon an invitational hymn was offered by the choir.

Holy Communion was prepared and served, at which the choir sang, "What A Fellowship."

Doxology and benediction closed the service for the morning.

THE FEMININE FRONT

By Rosalie Williams

Last weekend brought the climax of the college basketball season in this area with the CIAA Tournament at N. C. College and North Carolinians were proud to see the A and T team carry y off the championship.

The Durham meet has become something of an institution where people go, not only for the best basketball that colored colleges in the Southeast have to offer, but also to annually gather to meet old friends and for general conviviality.

There is talk that A and T has the probability of getting a larger coliseum than N. C. College and then getting the tournament, Durhamites intended early to this news shaking their heads and wondering what life in Durham will be like without the tournament.

Hospitality reigned supreme in the "Bull City" last weekend and stories I heard swamped by old-time basketball fans at one gathering could fill an interesting book.

One principal told of posting the local tournament schedule on his bulletin board and having one sweet innocent young thing ask if "Bye" were a double or triple A school.

A former referee told a group of new-comer officials that the fees they receive for their services seem fabulous compared with those he used to receive. He said he worked a two-day tournament and for his labors and expenses received a total of eight dollars. He mentioned the many times he had to work for such small fees as the only official in the game.

And there were tales about troubles the officials had had with fans. Declaring that this was the incident which caused him to hang up his whistle for good, a former referee told this one: In a game between two teams noted for their traditional rivalry, the regulation time ended with the score "fifteen." During the minute's rest before the start of the overtime session, one fan sidled up to him and revealed a mean-looking switch blade knife. Another fan came up on the other side and patting a revolver meaningfully and said in a low voice but loud enough to be distinctly heard: "Don't call any fouls on team A. This official got a chance for a word with his official and asked him, "Did you hear what that man said? What are we going to do?"

They say that not a single rule infraction was committed by team A in the overtime period.

After several stories were related of troubles with fans, including a few where cops had to escort the officials to the edge of the city limits, they started in on makeshift and limited facilities where they had worked.

There was one about a game played where there was only one ball between the two teams. You guessed it—that one ball got lost and the game had to be cancelled.

The day—I should say smelliness of playing space was remarkable in many instances, and some of the makeshift gyms were subjects of hilarious stories.

One old-timer declared he worked one game played in an old family home. The court was formerly two rooms with the dividing wall knocked out. That entire space was taken up as the playing area. Spectators were in other adjoining rooms which had boards torn out at eye level through which they eyed the game.

As I said, there were enough such stories to fill a book—al declared absolutely true in every detail. There's just one more that I'll use space for here. This one happened only a few days ago. I understand, at a high school tournament of rural schools. The game was late getting started and the principal who told this was serving as radio announcer to broadcast the game. He had run the game over interviews with coaches, assistant coaches, principals, dignitaries, at all, and had one of the players brought up for a few questions.

He had asked the usual questions about name, school, team record, etc, and then he asked: And what is your classification, Sonny? "Oh, I'm a farmer," was the lad's prompt reply.

CALLING ALL GREEKS

All members of Raleigh Greek-letter organizations are urged to be present at the Friday night Fellowship Hour sponsored by the Raleigh Pan Hellenic Council. That's this Friday, March 6, at 8 p. m. at the YWCA Extension on Blount Street. Fellowship will be the chief item on the agenda but president W. A. Rainbow will also explain the proposed program of the Pan Hellenic Council and ask for comments and suggestions from the membership-at-large.

MISCELLANEOUS

Raleigh certainly seems to have its share and then some more of illness this year. Confined at St. Agnes Hospital at the time of this writing were the following: Mrs. Mabel Winters, Mrs. Catherine Turner, Mrs. Louise Earnhardt, Allison on the shut-in list were Mrs. Lizzie Constant and Mrs. Maggie E. Jones. Their many friends wish for them a speedy recovery.

The H. L. Irons (he's a Shaw prof) have an addition to their family, a baby boy which was adopted last week.

The family of the late Mrs. Florida Roberts requests that customers who have unfinished sewing there please stop by the home on East Lenoir Street and pick it up.

Women who do not participate in the YW-sponsored activities miss opportunities for a lot of wholesome fun and recreation as well as worthwhile community service.

Last Tuesday night at the second annual Fellowship Hour sponsored by the Women's Activity Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. M. B. Eaton, there was a good sized group on hand to enjoy group singing under the leadership of Mrs. M. T. James, prize winning games, door prizes and graciously received accounts and just general fellowship. The group pictures of my experiences in South America last summer.

Refreshments were served under the leadership of Mrs. Pattie Biggs. Many such activities are available to fill the leisure hours of women who will take the time to share them.

POINT OF ORDER

The "Point of Order" is a motion designed to correct errors immediately whenever they are made. For example, suppose that a main motion does not get a second. Supposed further that the question has been stated to the assembly and discussion has begun.

Perhaps one of the members may realize that the motion did not get a second. He would arise and say: "Mr. Chairman, I rise to a point of order."

Then the presiding officer would say: "State your point."

The member: "My point is that the motion did not get a second."

The Chairman: "Your point is well taken; do I hear a second to the main motion?"
