Tormenting Rectal Itch Stopped In Minutes

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

New York, N. Y. (Special) — One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles". It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night. No matter what you've used without results — here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids — without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection. In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" and from both Tarkenton's "Penrod." Catherine Buxton, senior, who read excerpts from William Sharp's "The classes were represented by "Brain Surgeon"; Samuel Bullock, junior, read "Useless Moush" by Octave Mirbeau; Ada Aaston, sophomore, read William Wordsworth's "The Solitary Reaper" and Willie Dancy, freshman, told the story of Shakespeare's "Othello," and read gripping passages Miss Alice Jackson, librarian, presided over the meetings.

Debaters Of Duke Defeat A&T College

GREENSBORO—A debate team, representing Duke University, defeated A&T College in a match held here Tuesday night. Arguing the subject "Resolved: That the Further Development of Nuclear Weapons Should Be Prohibited Through International Agreement," the affirmative team from Duke swept to a unanimous decision in the opinion of the three judges.

Composing the winning team were Steve Braswell, a freshman from Marietta, Ga., and John Koskiner, a sophomore from Ashland, Ky.

Walter Johnson, Greensboro sophomore and Wallace Wortham, a freshman from Chester, Pa., composing the A&T team, debated the negative side.

The match marked the conclusion of the debate season for the A&T team which this year placed number five in Brooklyn College National Invitational Debate Tournament held in New York earlier this spring. The local group was coached by Mrs. Zoe P. Barber, Lt. David McElveen and Warmoth T. Gibbs, Jr.

The event was a feature of the Festival of Living series being conducted this month at the college.

Two Attend From Raleigh:

Workshop For College Personnel A Success At Nashville's Fisk U.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — A workshop designed to acquaint representatives of thirty-four Negro colleges with the responsibilities of rendering educational services to adults in the community, was held at Fisk University from April 15 to 16 at 1:30 p. m.

Representatives from North Carolina included: Dr. W. A. Blount, A&T College, Greensboro; Dr. Marcus H. Boulware, St. Augustine's College, Raleigh; Mrs. Elizabeth B. Coffield, Shaw University; and Mr. William E. Bluford, Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte.

The purpose of the conference was to make an effective attack on the problems of the South through programs of adult education.

Since a large percentage of the South's population is Negro, and since the Negro college is uniquely suited to meet the adult education needs of the South in a variety of important ways, this conference was called by the Center of Adult Education with headquarters in Chicago, Illinois.

Among the questions considered were:

1. In order to meet the adult educational needs of the South, what can be done with existing resources?

2. What resources and organizational principles will be necessary in the development of a long-term program of adult education in the Negro college?

The conference participants developed programs for adults from data concerning seven types of communities and three imaginary colleges and universities — Belt State University, Longacre University, and Southern Tech.

Among the consultants were: Dr. Alexander Charlier, Dean of University College, Syracuse University; Dr. Maxwell Goldberg, chairman, Department of English, the State College of Massachusetts at Amherst; Dr. Lewis Jones, Tuskegee Institute; Mr. B. C. McCall, researcher at the Adult Center in Chicago; Dr. P. E. Siegle, director of Adult Education Center in Chicago.

Fisk University was the host institution. Dr. Stephen J. Wright is president.
