"THE TRAP"

TECHNICOLOR®
AMBASSADOR STARTS
SUNDAY

SPRING BAZE—Two Bennett College freshmen take advantage of the recent balmy weather to enjoy the beauty of the outdoors on the Greensboro campus. Left to right: Misses Elise Porter, of Spartanburg, S. C., and Myrna Lee, of Liberia, West Africa. Miss Lee is a daughter of American parents who are stationed in the West African Republic and was valedictorian of her class at Prairie View High School in Texas.

"What One Is Willing To Die For Usually Represents What He Lives For:" Dr. McCoy

GREENSBORO — "What one is willing to die for, will usually represent what one is willing to live," Dr. Pressley McCoy, associate director of the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo., told Bennett College students here Monday.

Dr. McCoy, who spoke in Pfeiffer Chapel, used "Dead-End Living" as his topic. He pointed out to the students that many persons, with a false sense of values, travel along life's highway completely oblivious of the warning signs along the way and eventually wind up on a dead-end street. "Knowledge of itself," he declared, "does not necessarily determine one's philosophy nor does the fact that we know good mean that we will do good."

While on campus, Dr. McCoy had breakfast with members of the college's four-man team which last summer attended the Danforth Workshop at Colorado College. Several other faculty-staff members joined this group for lunch. Dr. McCoy also met informally with student leaders.

Bennett College was recently the recipient of a grant of $25,000 from the Danforth Foundation to be used in strengthening its academic program.
