DERBY TIME REVIVES OLD MEMORIES (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) him, and the lust for the track was in his blood. Oldtimers, who knew him, said he was "born to ride." On the track, he was a clever and unrelenting competitor. He won many of his races not only by brilliance in the stirrups, but also by his fine sense of pace and keen judgement. Once his brilliance of mind saved the life of a fellow rider in a race at Lexington.

WON IN GRAND STYLE "If he had not done it, his horse would have been thrown against mine, my horse would have gone down, and the other eight would have trampled me." Murphy's friend, who withheld his identity, said, "So every year out of gratitude, he made a pilgrimage to the grave of Murphy. Murphy rode his first Derby winner in 1894 aboard a frisky mount named Buchanan. Murphy did not want to ride the horse, who was noted for his wildness. But for some obscure reason, pressure was brought on him to take the assignment. The horse gave trouble as expected, but under Murphy's skilled maneuvering, straightened up after trailing the field, dashed into the lead, and won the race.

Braden, a traveler, will be in Raleigh Saturday to confer with a group of leaders in the desegregation battle on the famous Walker voting case in Seaboard; the hospital suit case at Wilmington; and the treatment of juvenile delinquency - especially as it concerns Negroes - pointed up by the Monroe "Kissing Case." The session will open at 1:30 p. m. on the west campus of Shaw University and the general public is invited to attend.

with burning, hanging, butchering, and the shooting of his two children, being dragged out of his home and lynched and other forms of possible death. Born in LaRue County, Kentucky, (the county of Abraham Lincoln's birth) Braden was the son of a Socialist laborer, who was also a militant trade unionist. In 1932, the Elder Braden-James R. - went on a big strike in which the family almost starved to death. The dispute arose over whether Negroes should be unionists. The father held that they should be affiliated with the group.

KIDNAPING AROUSES MISS. CITIZENS (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) met on Sunday in the second floor office of County Attorney William Stewart above the editorial office of the Weekly Democrat, the town's only newspaper. The officers drove away in teams of two after studying a large map of the county on Stewart's wall.

PURCHASE HOME FOR SEPLAN A soft-spoken, easy-going man, Braden is best known for his purchase of a home in an exclusively white neighborhood for a Negro electrician. He and his wife were jailed. Mrs. Braden spent 10 days in jail and Braden served 9 months, after which he was fined $35,000, all but $5,000 of which has been paid, thanks to the generous contributions of militant-minded people. Wife Is Author, Editor Mrs. Anne Braden is the author of a book, "The Wall Between," destined to become a best-seller. She is also the editor of the Southern Patriot in Louisville, of which Carl is the associate editor. She travels also. They are at home together about one week out of five. However, one or the other is there at all times to personally supervise the activities of the children.

Integration in Reverse The Bradens' children, Jimmy, who was 6-years-old at the time of integration in Louisville, and Anita McCarty Braden, 6-years-old now, integrated the Virginia Avenue School (all-Negro) in reverse. Jimmy, who entered school first, was the only Negro pupil among some 962 Negroes. 400 white children were scheduled to enroll, but all either withdrew or moved from the neighborhood before the time allotted arrived. There are presently 20 white pupils enrolled at the school now. Jimmy is a second grader and Anita attends the first grade.

See Big Change "I think there is a big change in the attitudes taking place in North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and Tennessee to a lesser degree than others - but a change is rapidly taking place." The city of Atlanta was also lauded by Braden. "In the last five years since the Supreme Court decision, we have been able to lay the bridge for a push forward. Maybe six months, two years or more will lapse before full realization, but it will take place. This comes from the fact, primarily, that Negroes are determined to have their rights and more white are joining in the struggle, or at least, are included to join, and the situation has to be resolved," Braden told this reporter.

Mr. Braden has served as editor of the Kentucky edition of the Cincinnati Inquirer; labor ed. of the Louisville Times and copy editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal. He has written movies and plays for industry and served as president of Editors, Inc. for three years. He has been engaged in newspaper work for the past 24 years. Shuttlsworth To Speak The Rev. Fred Shuttlsworth, an affiliate of the Montgomery Improvement Association, will journey to Louisville May 22 to deliver an address in which Mr. Braden must handle all of the arrangements. Mrs. Braden is scheduled to talk in New York May 8. On May 29, Carl will go to Atlanta, Ga., for a board of education conference and on May 29 he is scheduled to appear in St. Louis. There are currently 93,000 miles on his auto.

Mrs. Braden, who is a product of Mississippi, and Alabama, was reared in a well-to-do family and never spoke to a Negro socially until she was 19, and went to New York City to study acting. There she ran into a Negro actress whom she admired very much. It suddenly dawned upon her that it didn't matter what color a person's skin was. "A Remarkable Story" Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the late President of the United States, said Mrs. Braden's book "is a remarkable story." She added that "This is a story written by a woman who has achieved an objectivity which is extraordinary.
