

A WIFE GIVES HOPE: WILLIAMS DANGLES & ROFE ROCKY MOUNT - "As long as there is life there is hope" is a time-honored expression calculated to inspire the discouraged. We would like to paraphrase that to read: "As long as there is a wife suspended because of his advocacy there is hope also." This we can of "meeting violence with violence" say when we think of such noble, civie-minded wives as Mrs. J. J. Hannibal of Kinston, the newlyelected city council member (couneillady).

Hey election as the first woman as well as colored person to hold that peak in Kinston during the seatury, should inspire our other towns as action.

Jesse Graves' (the accused assaulter) picture made the front page of leading daily newspapers Tuesday morning beneath streaming bold type headlines. More important news concerning Negroes appeared as far back as pages 12 and 22. Whether it is more honorable to make the front page of the leading dailies or the back pages is debatable . . . Usually criminals on the front, social, civic and religious accomplishments in the rear . . . Race paper critics should take note.

Mob agitators now talk freely with law enforcement officers without fear of being arrested and even join in manhunts, with guns, over their protest. In running down Graves, a daily newspaper reported that residents joined in the search and some even fired at the suspect; but no arrests were made . . . Maybe if the incident had been the other way around, control and untampered with search would have been enforced even at gun point. Voters should take note. LATE SPORTS NEWS
