Maple Temple Church News

BY MISS LENA M. EURE
On Sunday, May 31, morning worship service began at 11:00 o'clock at the Maple Temple Christian Church, with the pastor, the Rev. M. F. Booker, making the call to worship — after which the senior choir marched in singing, "We're Marching to Zion."
After the choir had taken its place, they sang "Gloria Patri."
We were then led in prayer by the pastor while we softly chanted "The Lord's Prayer."
The first hymn of the morning rendered by the choir was, "O Thou In Whose Presence." The scripture lesson was read by the pastor from the 5th chapter of the Gospel according to St. Mark, verses 1-34, followed by prayer offered by Deacon Hinton.

The mission offering was lifted while the choir sang "Holy Quietness." This offering was blessed by Deacon Holloway.
The announcements of the week-end were the introduction of the visitors followed.

The general offering was lifted and consecrated.
Before the pastor began his sermon the choir rendered the beautiful spiritual, "The Pearly White City."

The pastor's sermon was centered around the 27th verse of the 5th chapter of St. Mark. In this verse it tells of how a certain woman had faith enough to believe that if she touched the hem of Jesus' garment she would be healed. The pastor pointed out how we also may be made whole if we confess our sins and believe that Jesus will forgive and make us whole.

Immediately at the close of the sermon the choir rendered as an invitational hymn, "Close to Thee."

The exology and benediction closed the service for the morning.

She strongly produced four kinds of homes, 1st, where there is respect rule from parents; 2nd, a home where everyone does as they please; 3rd, a democratic home where the parents and children share and work together; 4th, a real Christian home where all the good qualities are shown and love reigns. It was beautiful. Everyone enjoyed the address.

BERRY O'KELLY SCHOOL
Our class day and graduation exercises were very nice and greatly enjoyed by those present.
The graduating address was given by Dr. Wright of N. C. College at Durham. He was grand as he urged the class of 1959 to seek higher heights of education and be themselves and refrain from doing things just to keep up with someone else. Dr. Wright is chairman of the department of psychology at the college. It was an inspiration to all who heard him.

We earnestly pray that all will pursue their studies until the goal is reached that will enable each to take a real place in life.

Negro Passed As White In Deep South

The story of a Southern Negro, who crossed the color line and lived as a white man in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi, is told in the June issue of EBONY Magazine. In a first person article called, "Why I Never Want To Pass," the author, who is anonymous, disclosed that he passed for a strange reason. He hated white people, feared them and despised them.

The author conducted his experiment during a two week period that began in Washington, D. C. Among the first things he learned was the belief that one Negro can tell another is a fallacy. He also discovered that passing is not so much a matter of features and complexion, but of attitude.

I learned to talk to clerks and waitresses as though I was demanding service, was used to it, and I knew I would get it," he says in EBONY. "I looked them in the eye and said in a firm, no-nonsense voice, 'I want this-I want that.' And I got it."

In New Orleans, the author found that he could not pass for colored. He was asked to leave several Negro night spots.

During the two weeks he passed he learned that while men talk about the same things Negroes discuss. They also have the same problems, needs and drives. "My hate, like the hate of most people," says the author, "was born out of lack of knowledge. I know now that some white people are good, some bad and most of them, like people everywhere, drift with the tide."

The author says in EBONY that he has decided to remain in the South and help for the day when peoples of all colors and persuasions can go anywhere they want.
