CHARACTER IN LEADERSHIP

ROCKY MOUNT—IF THERE'S ONE THING we need nowadays more than MONEY, it's CHARACTER IN LEADERSHIP! When we realize that the average white man cares very little or nothing at all for the character of the so-called Negroes, it behooves us to guard ourselves and set high standards of living for our people and demand that they—particularly our teachers and preachers—live up to such standards which should be as rigid as those required of other Americans. That is the only way we can attain to full first-class citizenship status.

When we have public leaders—ministers and teachers—working with our young people as well as adults and we continually hear defamatory remarks and varied ugly rumors, coming from different sources, about said individuals, we should do some investigating instead of smuggling and covering up, or passing such off with the worn-out phrase, "People will talk, but you can't stop them and they can't prove anything." The youths know just about everything that they should not know nowadays. Therefore, the people who attempt to lead them MUST LEAD EXEMPLARY LIVES.

This does not mean that teachers have to sprout angel's wings, but they must be HONEST and ABOVE SUSPICION IN THEIR

BTW GRADUATES 1959: NEYLAND SPEAKS

ROCKY MOUNT—The 108 graduating seniors of the Booker T. Washington High School here heard Dr. Neyland W. Neyland, Elizabeth City Teachers College dean, say: "You should combine your scholarship with Christian character and always do your best in order to get to the top in life."

Dr. Neyland was introduced by Principal Randolph D. (Navy) Armstrong, Dr. Joseph W. Parker, Jr., race member of the local school board, presented the diploma. The Rev. John W. S. Davis presented to the graduates the Bibles which are awarded each year by a local civic club.

MUST FACE CHANGE

Neyland emphasized that, contrary to the belief of many people, "change is not only taking place in the field of science, but in all areas of life as well." He urged the graduates to realize that there are more jobs to be done than ever before; but that they must become "more specialized" in order to hold them.

Dean Neyland cautioned against "building walls around yourselves" and to remember that regardless of their many assets, "if you do not use them to help others, they are of little value."

Barbara Roundtree was valedictorian and Richard Hicks the salutatorian.

PRE-SCHOOL CLINIC

Apex School News

BY MRS. MARGARET SIMMONS

APEX—The Apex Consolidated High School held its annual pre-school clinic May 4th through May 6th. The objectives of this orientation program for pre-school children are as follows:

1. To help the children become familiar with the school plant.
2. To help the children become better acquainted with community helpers.
3. To see what school is like.

Last year our school had the same type of program for the first time. According to test results found last fall, after a 6 weeks period, that more pupils attending the clinic scored higher than those who didn't attend. Through teacher observation it was also discovered that pupils made a better social adjustment by attending the clinic than those who didn't.

We cannot say definitely that the clinic brought about such results, but this was the first time that a marked improvement was discovered in the areas mentioned above.

Because we believe the clinic was responsible for these changes, the principal and teachers considered it a worthy experimental project which should be continued.

On the first day of the clinic this year the children were registered and made a complete tour of the school campus. They learned about the heating system by having the custodian explain how heat is sent to the building in which they will be another year. They visited the room in which the public address system was installed and saw and heard how the principal's voice can be heard in all the classrooms.

They visited the cafeteria where they had lunch and the correct way to eat was stressed each day they were at school. They also visited the gymnasium.

During the following three days the pre-schoolers were taken on tours of the community centers which included the fire department, the post office, and the grocery store. Prior to each trip a background was established by showing film strips of the places they were to visit.

Upon their return the first grade teachers evaluated each day by having them identify what they saw through pictures, oral discussion, and dramatization. The teachers also kept daily records of their activities for the pupils.

While at school the children were taught games, rhythms, the pledge to the flag and America.

On the last day of their visit and evaluation program was given in the gymnasium in which the progress of what had been taught and learned during the week.

Participants of the clinic: Mr. P. A. Williams, principal; Mrs. Margaret J. Simmons, chairman; Mrs. Louise B. Davis; Mrs. Nellie F. Harris; Mrs. Addie P. Harris, high school girls and parents.

WOODLAND COMPLETES THIRD UNDEFEATED SEASON

The boys softball team of Woodland Elementary School rallied in the first inning and led all the way to beat Roxboro Elementary School, to end the season undefeated, and complete their third straight undefeated season. The Woodland boys have a string of twenty-two straight victories, and an overall record of 32 wins and 4 losses, since the school first fielded a team.

Woodland does not expect this undefeated string to run much longer, because other teams in the league are getting better, but it does expect to have a good team for a long time. George Swann, the fireballing righthander who pitched the team to an undefeated season this year, will be around another year. Also returning will be "Pete" Royler, Joseph Royler, Jimmy Terrell, Ned Bailey, the speedy fielding Ernest McGuire, and the two diminutive hustlers Sammy Pulliam and Oliver "Slick" Houser.

The success of the Woodland team is attributed to interest or desire on the part of the youngsters and a complete training program. When a boy reaches the grammar grades he starts writing Santa for a glove, bat, and ball. Class teams are formed and this play is climaxed with a class "World Series." In the training program, the "Little Pros" or "Yankees" of the league, as dubbed in some corners, are taught the techniques of hitting, base running, defensive techniques and team strategy.

INTEREST plus TRAINING have spelled SUCCESS for these Woodland youngsters, and not hours of unorganized PRACTICE.

Rush Memorial A. M. E. Zion Church News

BY MRS. ANNIE H. THORPE

Once more a 5th Sunday was rolled around and it was again an opportunity in which the junior choir and junior ushers could display their talents and abilities. The junior choir marched in gracefully singing, "God of our Fathers" for the processional number.

They, too, kneel around the altar for consecration before entering the choir loft. The 1st hymn, "O for a Heart to praise my God," was sung, lined by Rev. Carson. The responsive reading was for the 22nd Sunday, "The Spirit of Faith." The Gloria Patria and Affirmation of Faith followed. Scripture lesson was then read by our pastor from the 51st Psalm. The prayer of inspiration was offered by Bro. Thomas Jackson, Our 2nd hymn, "Be Still My Soul" was sung while the congregation reverently bowed.

The pastor, Rev. W. D. Carson, then chose his text from the same scripture read, Psalm 51:10, "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me." The minister began by saying that David had become sick in his heart because earlier in the Psalms he had asked to "Riot out his iniquities." Rev. Carson also made a comparison by relating the "Creation." The word "Create" has so many meanings as to cause to exist, to produce and originate.

At the 7:30 o'clock hour the minister chose his text from St. John's gospel and talked from the theme, "The Blind Man." During the morning service Mr. Joseph Carr, one of the young men of the church, was appointed as Scout Master for the troop of our church. We are always happy for the young folk to find their places in the church, and work therein.

The opportunity is always yours if only you will come and accept the same.
