"I Have Never Owned The Indians," Arthur Dove Says

BY CHARLES R. JONES

Who owns the Newark Indians?

Arthur Dove, owner of the Raleigh Tigers, and Charles Drummond, manager of the Newark Indians baseball team, disagree over this matter.

The Indians are stranded in Raleigh at this time depending on the charitable services of the Family Service Society and the Salvation Army for food and lodging.

They have been here since completing a long tour in Eastern

North Carolina with the Tigers. Mr. Dove, in an exclusive interview Wednesday morning. said: "I have never owned the Newark Indians."

Drummond claims Dove sign. ed a contract for the team and said "We're going to sue him Dove admitted negotiating with the husband of Mrs. Bernadine Johnson, Newark, N. J., alleged owner of the Indians, "We even had the team members sign notarized contracts. But I was later told that Mrs Johnson's husband could not sell the team because white marine with "overpowering sex urges" faces a sentence of death in the electric chair for the rape of a 47-year-old Negro wo-

An all-white jury took only an hour to convict Fred J. Davis, 22, Atlanta, without a recommendation of mercy. The jury's veradict made the death sentence mandatory under South Carolina law, and Circuit Judge J. Henry Johnson pronounced the death sentence.

Earlier in the same court a Negro, Israel Sharpe, 19, was sentenced to death by a jury of six white men and six Negroes for breaking into the home of a young white mother and attempting to rape her.

Should Davis be sent to the lectric chair, it would be the first recorded case in the nation of a white man being executed for the rape of a Negro.
