BEATING THE GUN

BY BILL BROWER FOR ANP
Two incidents in the major leagues just before the All-Star game break deserve some comment from this corner for whatever its worth.

One was the heartbreak for Sam Jones, the righthander of the San Francisco Giants, who was deprived of his second no-hit game on a scorer's judgment.

The other concerns Vic Power, whose manager, Joe Gordon, of the Cleveland Indians, charged that he was balked out of two base hits because of a scorer's prejudice.

The Jones' incident occurred in Los Angeles Coliseum in the 8th inning of a game between the Dodgers and the Giants. With a crowd of 59,812 looking on, Jones had held the Dodgers hitless in the worse ball park in the majors for pitchers. Then, in the eighth, Junior Gilliam bounced one over Rogers' head and Shortstop Andre Rogers attempted to field the grounder.

Charlie Park, baseball writer for the Los Angeles Mirror-News, flashed the hit signal and as the sign went up on the scoreboard, some fans let out a chorus of boos.

Jones obviously was dejected. Park did not console him when he told him after the game he was sorry. However, the scorer contended if he had it to do over a- gain he would make the same call.

Rogers said he believed he would have tipped Gilliam if he had handled the ball cleanly. This situation recalled a similar case seven years ago when Virgil Trucks was credited with his second no-hit game in the same season. The Detroit Tigers were playing the New York Yankees in Yankee Stadium.

Later, John Drebiner, of the New York Times, sent a message to Pesky asking him to describe the play. Pesky said he had trouble getting the ball out of the webbing of his glove. Accordingly, the scorer reversed himself and Trucks became one of a few major league pitchers to be credited with two no-hit games in the same season.

Gordon contends that Power was deprived of a hit that scored the winning run for the Indians over Detroit. He said it was the second hit taken away from the versatile Puerto Rican in 24 hours. In a doubleheader July 4, the same season, Edgar Hayes, sports editor of the Detroit Times, ruled a bunt single a sacrifice and charged the Tigers' first baseman with an error. Power beat the third baseman's throw to first.

The Cleveland skipper added: "I wouldn't be surprised, either, if it was done just for spite. It's not right to deliberately take away a hit from anyone who plays as hard as Vic does."

Oddly enough, it is Power's aggressive play that might have contributed to the cause of Gordon's complaint. Vic also had his troubles with an umpire in the same game.

Tomatoes On Your Table

More home-grown tomatoes are arriving in the market every day. When buying tomatoes, let your eyes be your guide. Look for firm, but well ripened and plump tomatoes. They should be of good color—red or yellow depending on variety. It free from blemishes and well shaped, there's less waste.

Besides being luscious to eat, red ripe tomatoes are well worth eating, nutritionally speaking. Tomatoes are low in calories, rich in vitamin C and a good source of vitamin A. One medium-sized raw tomato provides almost half the vitamin C for the day, plus about one-third the vitamin A.

For sliced green tomato pickles, slice 7 pounds green tomatoes 1-8 inch thick. Soak 24 hours in solution of 2 gallons cold water and 1 vial (11.5 grams) sliced lime (which can be purchased at the drug store). Drain and soak in cold water 4 hours; change water each hour. Make a syrup of 5 pounds sugar and 3 pints vinegar and hot syrup over tomatoes.

Let stand overnight, then boil all (syrup and tomatoes) 1 hour and seal. Put into the boiling pickles a bag of spice as follows: 1 tablespoon allspice, 1 tablespoon cloves, 1 tablespoon mace, and 1 tablespoon white mustard seed.

GOOFIN' OFF BY "SKINK"

The Negro American League will stage its All-Star Game, Aug. 9, in Chicago.

Rain cancelled the Detroit-Raleigh Tiger game in New Bern last Sunday. Rufus Hatten was the promoter.

Toney Cuccinelli, former big league star, stopped over in Raleigh last week to get a line on North Carolina's sandlot baseball prospects. He reports that quite a few colored boys, now playing in the minor leagues, were discovered on hitherland baseball diamonds.

New Bern has a better set-up for colored baseball than any town in North Carolina.

North Carolina College has made it a point to exclude Florida A&M College from its football schedule each year. Guess they got tired of getting those lopsided beatings.

Baseball is dead in Western Carolina, but is gradually catching fire in the Eastern part of the state.

And volunteer workers that have supported the program for years say that plans for the future are non-existent.

Crown Prince Joe Henry has been released from the roster of the Detroit Stars. Reasons for his release were not disclosed.

DATA N' CHATTER

FROM HOLLYWOOD TO HARLEM — The brass at the fabulous Copacabana in New York are getting a bit nervous as the August 15 date approaches, because that's when comedian Monty Sahl and Earl Grant (Nat's sound-alike) are slated to begin an engagement and both claim their contracts specify top billing.

This headline gave me a chuckle. MATHIS DATES LIZ TAYLOR. What the eager-beaver newshawks neglected to print is that the young lady in question is Elizabeth Frances Taylor a New York dancer.

TRUE SAYING OF THE WEEK. "A hamburger by any other name costs more."

SAYS SHE'D PLAY AT FOREST HILLS — Althea Gibson, first Negro star to win the world's top tennis honors, talks to reporters at Idlewild Airport, after arrival on a Pan American Jet Clipper from London. Asked if she would accept an invitation to play at the West Side Tennis Club courts at Forest Hills, N. Y., following the barring of Dr. Ralph Bunche and his son on racial grounds, Miss Gibson pointed out that she had retired from competition for a year, but said: "As long as they treat me as a person and a guest, I'll play." Plea Of Colored Youth Nets Schweitzer Money

NAPLES, Italy — (ANP) — Dr. Albert Schweitzer, who has spent nearly 50 years helping the natives in Africa, will receive more than $400,000 worth of medical supplies because a 13-year-old American Negro boy asked for "help for the good doctor."

The project to aid Dr. Schweitzer got underway, when Bobby Hill, son of S-Sgt. Henry Hill, Waycross, Ga., currently stationed at NATO headquarters outside Naples, wrote a letter of appeal to Lt. Gen. Richard C. Lindsay, commander of NATO air forces in southern Europe.

Bobby, who had read about the Nobel Prize-winning humanitarian, wanted to send medicine to Dr. Schweitzer, and his father said he would buy as much as he could, if the lad could find a way to get the medicine to the doctor's jungle hospital.

Bobby, in turn, wrote to Gen. Lindsay: "I think your planes, if they go where Dr. Schweitzer is, could deliver the medicine for me. Maybe other persons also will feel what I feel and will offer medicine too."

An Italian officer on the general's staff told the Italian state TV network about the boy's letter. An appeal was broadcast, and gifts from private citizens poured in. Gen. Lindsay supplied the planes—one of which carried Bobby and the $400,000 medical supplies—to French Equatorial Africa and Dr. Schweitzer.

"One Out Of Every 600 Men Isn't A Man At All," Zoologist Claims

GREENSBORO — One male out of every 600 is of a different sex from that listed on his birth certificate, says Dr. Emil Witschi. He quickly explains that these situations are not examples of homosexuality, nor falsification but a matter of plain genetics. He also exploded the old myth about the "full blooded man." "There are no such animals," he says, "every male has some female constituted traits, much more in some than in others." The same situation, but in reverse, is also true in the case of females. The whole matter he claims is one of chromosome constitution. These and other matters dealing with new information on sex were discussed by Dr. Witschi in the special presentation he made at the Hines Hall Auditorium at 2 o'clock on Thursday, July 16. It was one of the lectures he had been delivering for the past three months as guest lecturer at the University of Paris, from which he returned just last week. Dr. Witschi, a native of Switzerland, came to the United States in 1927 and has done considerable study in Biology or Reproduction. A graduate of State Teachers College and the University of Bern, both in Bern Switzerland, he holds the doctorate from the University of Munich in Germany. He conducted lectures here all during last week at the A&T Summer Institute for High School Science Teachers, sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Much Discussion Around NY Regarding Her Stand

NEW YORK (ANP) — Much discussion is circulating around New York regarding the position taken by tennis star Althea Gibson, concerning discrimination practiced by the West Side Tennis club at Forest Hills.

Miss Gibson was reported as describing the club's attitude toward Dr. Ralph Bunche as "ridiculous," but adding that she would continue to practice at Forest Hills "if they invite me."

The statement was made to reporters who asked her opinion on the club's refusal to accept Dr. Bunche and his son, Ralph, Jr., to its membership and whether she agreed that the Davis Cup matches of the National Championship matches should be moved from Forest Hills to another stadium.

According to reports, she replied that they had always treated her well there and saw no reason why tennis players and fans should be penalized by taking the championship matches out of the only actual tennis stadium in the U. S.

Los Angeles Bidding For Patterson-Johannson Bout

LOS ANGELES — (ANP) — According to special events director Dick Pittenger, the Los Angeles County Council of the American Legion, the Council is seeking to raise one million dollars in an attempt to bring the Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson heavyweight title match here.

Pittenger, who described himself as a close friend of Bill Rosenzohn, said the promoter promised to leave the rematch open for our offer although he had a better guarantee than a million dollars, presumably in New York.

He is holding off closing any deal until July 24 when he is scheduled to leave for Sweden to confer with champion Johansson on details of the rematch, Pittenger said. Pittenger said he means committee of the Council to investigate the possibility of staging the fight and arranging the financing. He added the fight could be held either in the Los Angeles Coliseum or the mammoth Rose Bowl in Pasadena. "I feel that the Legion and groups like the Publishers Association and Fraternal social groups could easily underwrite the sale of a million dollars worth of tickets if the fight were to be staged here or in Pasadena," he stated.

Scots Outlawed Golf In 1457

The Scots had a simple solution when they thought might be caught with their defenses down—they outlawed golf. Back in 1457, archery was still the chief means of defense Scotland. But the Scots were spending so much time on the greens that the country seemed in danger of losing the bow-and-arrow race. The World Book Encyclopedia reports that the Parliament of King James II ordered the people to put their clubs away and get back to target practice. Later, when gunpowder came into general use, the law was revoked and the Scots went back to their putting.
